A typical seat frame for use in a vehicle seat, includes a back frame and a seat frame. A fastener is used to fix the back frame to the seat frame. The use of a spacer between the back frame and the seat frame is common and is also known in the art. Spacer can reduce the stress in the fixing connection between the seat frame and the back frame. However, spacer adds an additional step to the manufacturing process. Therefore, there exists a need for a seat frame that includes a back frame and a seat frame, wherein the seat frame is directly coupled to the back frame without the aid of a spacer.B.J.
