Male: Conditions for male animal. Where there are specific terms for neutered and uncastrated men, they are given and then with and you accordingly. Female: Conditions for female animals. Young: Conditions for young animals. Where there are specific terms for young men and women, they are given and then m and f respectively. Home: Conditions for an animal's home. Those made by the animal itself follow and those made by humans to save the animal follow h. Group: Conditions for a group of animals of this type. Italianized terms invented by collective nouns are rarely found outside the lists of such terms and are not used by zoologists. Sound: Conditions for the cry of the animal or the sounds that the animal makes. Adjective: Adjectives describing an animal of this type. These include general English terms (such as worms) and technical or Latin terms (e.g. Vermian). Many technical terms are accompanying adjectives. Related terms: Alternative names for animals, including slang terms, terms for animals of different ages, animals that are parents and terms otherwise too specific to show in other columns.
