Program Description:

• With its prime location in the heart of Giza, Cairo University offers undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate students an opportunity to learn the Arabic language and at the same time immerse in the mesmerizing Egyptian culture and history. Known as the cradle of civilization, Egypt is the perfect destination for international students to get acquainted with the evolution and the development of the art of writing in addition to the architectural landmarks and their correlation to the religious heritage.

• The Department of Arabic Language in Cairo University meets the needs of international students who seek to acquire further knowledge of the Arabic language at the hands of highly qualified and acclaimed faculty members. This program is designed to combine educational purposes with sightseeing of the most famous tourist attractions, starting with the Pharaonic architecture then the Coptic and Islamic and finally the contemporary architecture. The program mixes between classical Arabic and Egyptian colloquial Arabic.
