Like many Central American calendars, the Tzolk'in calendar, or the Holy Tour, operates on a 260-day cycle. One theory of the importance of her cycle length is that the 260 days are related to pregnancy [Source: Maya School of Mystery]. Another suggests that the calendar represents the length of time for corn cultivation. However, it is likely that it was based on mayan reverence for numbers 13 and 20. In the Gregorian calendar, we have seven days of the week, depending on the month, anywhere from 28 to 31 days. The Tzolk'in calendar consists of a set of 20-day names, symbolized by images called symbols, and 13 numbers called tones. Days are numbered from one to 13, and names are also given sequentially. The announcement of the beginning of the Tzolk'in calendar begins with the name of the first day, Imix', and number one. The days continue in sequence, with the second day being a combination of Ik'and number two; Once the calendar reaches day 13, which B'en refers to and number 13, the numbers start again with one, but today's names move forward with avatar 14, lx. Alternately like this, the two groups make up 260 unique groups of today's name and number. For example, once you reach the end of the days names cycle with 7 Ajaw, the names of the day start again in Imix, and the numbers continue: 8 Imix', 9 Ik', 10 Ak'b'al and so on. This content is not compatible on this device. Think of two interlocking trussin, with 13 numbers spaced around smaller circular equipment that fit within the larger gear of the names of the days referred to in hieroglyphics. If you lock these gears together at number one and imix day name, rotate the gears until you reach one and imix again, you'll get 260 unique days. Those gears spin up the final combination clicks in place at 13 Ajaw, marking the end of the year. It is easy to see the importance of the Mayans placed in the Tzolk'in calendar. For example, they thought that your date of birth determines what characteristics will appear in your personality -- like many people think your astrological mark is doing today. Holy Men also schedule some events throughout the year based on the Tzolk'in calendar. At the beginning of each Huynal (20-day period), shamans were counted forward to determine when religious and ceremonial events would occur. Then he chooses which dates will be the most prosperous or fortunate for society. Despite its countless functions, the Tzolk'in calendar still cannot measure the solar year, and the time it takes for the sun to make a full cycle. Because of this, the Mayans needed a more accurate calendar to track the length of time we consider to be a whole year. Some types of media to look at: - Mono printing (pictured above) ink, welding, wood, crafts... These are my favorites only recently and I can continue if you want to know some other forms of media please ask i would love to share this knowledge if asked. But perhaps in a different project :)meth artists you won't have possibly heard: Edward Fairburn, (which is the style art you see in the picture above, my painting tho) - Joshua Soda, Carney Griffiths, JKB Fletcher, Torrent Theatre Company, If you want to know some more artists than certain media, I have drawing booklets overflowing with names on everything, please ask if you have difficulty finding the names of the :) before we move on? You can see where a little bit of paint seeps under the tape of the blackboard. To fix it, I've since added limits to cover it, but unless you're looking for a mistake, that's not noticeable. On the instructions for the coating tell the head of the chalk area by covering it with a layer of chalk, and then clear it off. I've skipped this step and worked well, but it only takes a second to do. Online calendar is a great way to manage your life from home, work and on the go.
