For more details on how to use sketchup pro 2016 for windows follow the video tutorial Q: Avoid using string.Format with DataType.GetDataTypeString I have a method that's supposed to return a string of a user's password. The method is: public static string GetPassword(UserModel user) { if (user.Password!= null && user.Password!= string.Empty) { return user.Password; } else return string.Empty; } However, it calls a string.Format statement with the DataType.GetDataTypeString("string") method. I don't like string.Format because it makes the code harder to read. So, I tried to change the method to: 520fdb1ae7
