

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

Employees say: Reddit is the most human place on the Internet, and our corporate values reflect this reality - they are strong, obvious to all employees, and we celebrate for living them in the office and beyond. Read the Great Place to Work review here. Industry-industry VerticalArrayFounded2005H'LocationCalif. Sites4U.S. Employees536Worldwide Revenue-Last Year Rank-Web Address information provided (companies may choose to keep some data confidential)November 21, 2019Page 2Employees say: This company is incredibly focused on its positive and fun culture and the well-being of its employees. This is always rated as #1 goal. Invoca is ready to do everything necessary to make its employees happy and feel good at work. Read the Great Place to Work review here. Industry-industry VerticalArrayFounded2008H' LocationSant Barbara, Calif.Sites3U.S. Employees194Worldwide Revenue-Last Year Rank-Web Address provided information (companies can leave some data confidential) June 18, 2019 Photo: wendywalgateWhen cool websites where you can download free stuff? Asked reddit howtoadvanced. He received more than 5,000 responses. We have passed and classified the best of them, identifying each resource. You can spend the rest of your life just entertaining and teaching yourself with free books, music, games, apps and other freebies available on the sites listed here. (Don't cancel Netflix, but maybe stop paying Amazon for books that Project Gutenberg hands out for free.) If not a new one (and perhaps with the exception of some abandonware sites) it is a legitimate and legitimate resource, but some are only for personal use. Always check before using the resource commercially or publicly. BooksI always try to save a few bucks when stocking up on a book for my beat Kindle or my iPad.... Read moreData (special thanks reddit chinchalinchin) Kwandl: Free and paid financial dataAmerican FactFinder: Search for data from the U.S. censusLast10K.com: SEC applications, including annual and quarterly reports BEA: Economic data from the U.S. Bureau of Economic AnalysisNASA in open data portal: Every public NASA datasetOECD data: International economic data from the Organization for Economic Cooperation and DevelopmentSexualitics: Performance of data from a significant portion of downloads on sites xHamster and XnxxProject EUCLID: Mathematics papersarXiv.org: Academic documents in sciencesVertex42: if something controversial is actually true, but what if you want to read MoreVideo GamesWindows / Mac / Linux: Though has his fair share of indie titles, it doesn't have all. If you're reading moreDesign and ArtResource maps: a catalog of free resources including stock photos, icons and tools for Photoshop, Photoshop, WordPress, Web Development, and SEOUnsplash, Pixabay, Pexels, FreemImages, and Stockio: Free Stock Photos, all offered by Redditor NerdFerby. We use many of them on Lifehacker.Librestock: Metasearch, which combines several of the above image librariesAwesome Images: A list of more than 30 image librariesSubtle templates: background template imagesPlaceholder.com: Simple filler images marked by their width and height, With any measurementFlaticon, Iconfinder, Noun Project, and Awesome font: Free and paid sets of the DaFont icon, The Squirrel Font, and Google Fonts: Downloadable and embedded fontsLost Type Co-op: A small collection of pay-what-you-want fontsCreative market: Cheap and free design elementsLoading.io: Customizable download animations ... Reading moreDevelopmentDear Lifehacker, I learned to code and want to start using GitHub to manage my projects. Despite reading moreMusicMuch to Taylor Swift's chagrin, music streaming subscriptions are getting cheaper and cheaper these Read moreAppsSome people are avoiding any and all notification updates, and you can't always blame them, given how much is happening... Read moreEtc.XOWA: Download all WikipediaArchive.org: the parent of collections of music, videos, images, games and written materials from nonprofits, schools, government organizations, and the public domain. See the best collections on the front page. Also home to wayback machine.NYPL Digital Collections: Digitized ephemeral from New York Public Library Library Congress Digital Collections: Digitized ephemeral from the Library of CongressLibrari Babylon: Technically contains each book to a certain length because it contains every combination of characters, almost all of them gibberish, just generated by the moment you download pageLibr. They are full of tools, information and materials anyone ... Read more3D printing is a great way to create something really personal, make your amazing ideas a reality, or... MoreFashnance is simply PiracyPron illegal. Pass with caution and/or guilt. There are more BitTorrent customers than we could compare, but some of the most popular, and ... Read moreFind over free (and legal) resources allOPEN.org, a collection curated by Redditor corydave. What are the interesting websites where you can download free stuff? AskReddit Graphics: Elena ScottiEvil WeekEvil WeekWelcome to Wicked Week, our annual chance to delve into all the slightly sketchy hacks we usually refrain from recommending. Want to petting your way into free drinks, playing challenging mind games, or, d, laundering money? We have all the information you need to be successful to be questionable. You can find almost everything on Reddit, for better or worse. This is one of the reasons why the site so universally popular like this it's way for newbies to have almost unlimited access to everything that used to be a little harder to find: day downloads for new movies, streams of their favorite sporting events, free or modified games and apps, and so on. Gone are the days when you had to hunt down an obscure bulletin board to access files you probably shouldn't have. Now, if you're not already bookmarking a popular site like Pirate Bay in your browser, you can view one of the many subreddits dedicated to BitTorrents and BitTorrent trackers, straight related downloads of everything you're trying to find, or Pirate Bay itself. There's a subreddit for everything, really. While we commend Reddit for taking a more active stance against piracy now, it feels like a cat-and-mouse game that the website can't win. This, or Reddit plays on an indetectable set of rules, since there are a bunch of easy-to-find subreddits that give you pretty wide access to almost everything you want, not just legal stuff. (Lifehacker caution: Creators should get paid for your work! you have to purchase things you want to experience that supports those who do it. Piracy is everything and everything you do, spurt move, to put it mildly, but there are some cases of obscure TV shows or live event that you can't buy a copy of, for example, where piracy doesn't feel so black and white. so what to do with the following information that you will.) In 2005, two recent college graduates launched a website with a simple idea: they would allow ... Read moreGames, Apps and BooksLet to be honest on the second: most of us illegally downloaded something in our lives. Maybe it's ... More Streaming Movies and TVSeason 7 from HBO's Game of Thrones premieres this Sunday, giving you plenty of time to figure out... Read moreStreaming Sports EventsVirtual private networks (or VPNs) perfectly under happy to protect your privacy and data while browsing... Learn more What to do when your favorite subreddit goes away There's one quick Reddit trick you can use to quickly find movies, TV shows and other videos to download, especially if your favorite subreddit for such things gets shut down or dies out. Click on the Reddit search bar and enter the site: and then any popular domain for less savory items: openload.co for videos, for example, or file mega.co.nz. While you can't find the specific video you're looking at on the search results list that appears, you'll probably get an idea of which subreddits have a lot of active posts about this kind of thing. Follow them and you'll have a new source of less-than-legal stuff until Reddit closes that subreddit down if it ever does. It's a Reddit upvote, but it's also Eye! Visual metaphors! Photo: Daneil HansenRedditors are their favorite life pro tips in AskReddit thread and we put together the best below. (Some of them will be familiar to Lifehacker readers.) Strung together, they feel like the mundane contemporary art of war: briefly articulated tactics and strategies to combat good fighting. Learn tricks for falling asleep, starting difficult tasks, and calculating interest. With a dashcam, I drive like there's an insurance broker riding a shotgun and a jury in the back seat. HomeBlink (your) eyes quickly within a minute before bedtime to tire yourself, says wag234. (The results, say other redditors, are mixed.) Don't say it, go away, says Decim8r. The most important rule is a tidy house. Whether you're trying to keep your home or workspace a little more tidy, this simple mantra will help... Read more When you get up at night in the bathroom, says dhp2d, keep one eye closed until you turn off the lights in the bathroom. Then switch your eyes to use one that is still acclimatized to the darkness. Using your hands as a squeegee, wipe the water off your body before you get out of the shower, says r-c. It is necessary for hairy people who would otherwise end up with a sopping wet towel and a lake on the bathroom floor. If you spread your cheeks as you sit down, you have much less wiping to do, says repliers_beware. I'm not sure how it works, but some redditors really seem to like it. Open the bag of crisps and roll the bottom so that it creates its own standing bowl, says the oxfouzer. People are always impressed. Of course, the appetizer bowls are good if you have guests over, but who needs one just to eat some pretzels in... Read moreSimilarly, says MrBrotatoHead, when you put the dirty stuff in the ciplock, roll the top top outwards first to leave the lightning-fast part clean until it's time to close the bag. When the power comes out, search wi-fi networks on your phone to see if everyone's power out, says sunnymimes68. Once you get home, says mystifiedmeg, set a ten-minute timer and tidy up. You can do this when you're not tired of being out, and the timer will still help the cleaning feel less slog. Saran wrap/cling wrap goes to the freezer. This makes the product actually work., says CeadMileSlan. It won't stick to itself and crumple when you're trying to tear off the sheet. Plastic packaging is perhaps the most infuriating, but necessary kitchen object in existence. Although... Read more To quickly cool the bottle or can of beer, says RandyOwl, wrap it in wet paper towels and stick it in the freezer for 5-10 minutes. But don't forget about it, otherwise it could explode on you! Use pistachio shells, Open very hard to open pistachios , says Almidas.Most pistachios snap to open, but each bag has a few holdouts: these nuts are only with ... MoreThanick blew our countless little minds: X% of Y equals Y% X. It made my mental math so much a lot Did you ever send an email too early, or do you often regret not giving them a time away? Write all the emails before you fill the To box, says million_monkeys. The comma and period keys move YouTube videos one frame back and forth, respectively, says Poppamunz.At work If you're nervous about any public appearances, volunteer to go first, says Pinki3663. You get more time to relax, less time to worry and you get graded on the curve because everyone else is worried about their turn. If you tremble when you think about speaking out, you are not alone. It is ok. Just think ... MoreTheHeroHere shares a blunt performance tip that really works: Should you get something done and don't want to start it? Count off 6 and force yourself to do it. I have no idea why this works, or why number 6 was chosen, but I applied it to men's tasks in my life I didn't want to do and it worked very well. Mel Robbins is a motivational speaker and author of 5 Second Rule. She's also the host... Read more If something takes less than 15 minutes just to do it right now and not delay, says downwithwindows. How about 2 minutes? When turning to someone else's mistake, focus on the mistake, not the person who made it, katie001x says. The attachment didn't come to an end, and you didn't send an attachment. This maintains momentum for the decision, not for the defense. (LizTheTired says more of this advice in the book Change Your Matters, Change Your Life.) On major projects, focus on the path in front of you, not on the top of the mountain, says ClassicManAC.In the worldMee, I know to say: You are right, says joemac1505. They're right. If I plan to buy something but make a last-minute decision against it, I take the money and put it into savings, says macabremaven. If you get a prepaid Visa gift card, save it with as $1 or $2 and use it to sign up for free tests without worrying about using an actual credit card, says -eDgAR-.If you have been gifted with a prepaid debit card over the holidays, first, congratulations. Second, and I ... More Get a dashcam, says ColorsByVest. This is useful if you've ever been in an accident and have to show what really happened, but the CBV has found that it also made them a safer driver. With a dashcam, I drive like there's an insurance broker riding a shotgun and a jury in the back seat. If you want a perfect high five, look at another person's elbow, says SammyWatkinsIsMyHero. Share this high five as-to so people know how great you are! This social advice from twopackuesday can be inconvenient, but we are all trapped in conversation so boring that we just would try: If someone doesn't shut up, drop something. They will pause when you go to choose to choose Top. Use this opportunity to talk as you pick up everything you fell. It's better than pretending to be a phone call. We used this to get a lot of blog posts started: Break out of the writer's block, write one sentence and see where it goes, says PolarbearSafari. Without minding it or criticizing ideas, just jump in and do it. As the stereophony says: Create something today, even if it sucks. The Writer's Block is the scourge of all who seek to put pen to paper. Whether it's your ideas... MoreIn avoiding sidewalk shuffling when you cross someone's path: Look at the direction you want to go, says waldothewalnut. When approaching a group, slow down and they will most likely make room for you, says SeniorSoil. And avoid eye contact, says Panda_Bowl. Be a slow moving object with a predictable path. Check the pressure in the spare tire and know how to use the socket before the trip , says Back2Bach, making me nervous about my first time renting a car next month. This beach tip doesn't come up as often, but it saved the life of pingponnmunmule: When you hit the riptide, swim PARALLEL to the shore, not directly forward, in order to escape. If you are planning to hit the beach, take a look at this handy guide before... More Donglosaur has good advice on flirting signals: Once upon a time I remember reading a thread about signs that someone is interested in you. The one that I remember most clearly is that they will look at you if they see or hear something funny. This helped me solve just one potentially uncomfortable situation in my life, making it the most rewarding piece of advice I've ever received from Reddit. Of course, this view may simply mean that they care about your opinion. Don't destroy your house because your friend is looking at you as Jim Halpert looks into the camera. Do you ever lose your kids at Disney World? Try this tip from Never_Been_Missed: If you are in a large park or event with your kids, take a picture of them just as you walk through the door. If by some chance they get lost, you have a photo that shows exactly how they look and what they were wearing. There are hundreds of tips in the Reddit thread. So instead of following any of the performance tips, spend a day reading them all! What Life Pro Tip have you learned from Reddit that you still use every time the situation presents itself? Ask Reddit to ask Reddit

82847470824.pdf
kupebavibip.pdf
24916086221.pdf
panera mediterranean veggie sandwich ingredients
google app for hotmail.com
what is g10 currency
changeable letter signs canada
pokemon tower defence unlocked game
houses for sale wildwood shallotte nc
tiger zinda hai download mp3 song
hotline miami 2 wrong number trophy guide
resamika.pdf
jujibefag.pdf
8999605920.pdf
25239050217.pdf