He is best known for his role as Detective Joe Furuy in the Anime Crime Unit and for his numerous roles in voice acting, most notably FL4K from Borderlands 3 and Johnny from OK K.O.! Let's be heroes. It is represented by the Creative Artists Agency and has partnered with gaming brands Sega, Wizards of the Coast, EA and Square Enix. Early life Cho was born in Minnesota and then moved to DeWitt, Michigan. Cho's beginning in voiceover was prompted in high school from working on his friend's radio plays, recording many voices for different types of characters. After graduating from high school, he enrolled at Michigan State University, where he often performed live and graduated in 2012 with a degree in Media Information and Technology. In 2012, after graduating from college, Cho described himself as in a creative rut and worked as an English teacher for Korean immigrant students. In October 2012, Cho began publishing daily voice content on Tumblr, building an audience, and eventually went viral when he sings Let It Go from Frozen as Goofy. His first foray into professional voice acting came when Deven Mack saw one of his YouTube videos and auditioned for Apotheon, where he eventually got the role of the main villain zevs. In late 2014, Cho began using Vine for post-content and grew in popularity when he was later asked about his stint on Vine, he stated: ... overall it was just a way to put out my ideas in a very simple way. It also helped me pare down my writing, so there's less filler. He remained active at Vine until the 2016 announcement of their closure, and was a finalist for the 9th Shorty Awards for Vine of the Year. Cho has turned his attention to his YouTube channel, his audience follows Vine and his work often appears on the front page of Reddit. In 2017, Cho starred in his first role as the main character, Detective Joe Furayi, in the anime department of Crunchyroll, for which he was nominated for Best Actor in a Comedy at the 8th Streamy Awards. In mid-2018, the Creative Artists Agency reached out to him and signed it, agreeing already scheduled move to Los Angeles Los Angeles continue his career as a voice actor. Shortly after he was cast in the multi-ethnic series Rooster Teeth Gen:Lock and told NewsWeek by Phillip Martinez, The Voice of Action gives me a lot more freedom because I am not limited to my appearance. I can voice all kinds of different kinds of characters. Cho's presence on YouTube grew throughout this time, his channel exceeded 2 million subscribers, and most of his income between voiceover work, based on sponsorship and advertising revenue. His videos are intentionally low-budget and often have repetitive universes with their own casts of characters, including anime parody (Tomoko Chairem anime Canon) and a role-playing parody game (The Dragon King), through which he pokes fun at common games and anime cliches and tropes. In these videos, he often plays several characters, a detail that has become so strongly associated with him that he and his Fellow YouTuber Octopimp parodied him in a video on the latter's channel, further poking fun at Cho's strong association with the anime. He continued to expand the existing storylines that originally began on Vine, as well as to create let's Play Press Buttons n Talk with his friend Alex Mankin. In 2019, Cho voiced the FL4K character in the popular video game Borderlands 3. He was a fan favorite in the anime community, being a frequent guest at conventions and presenting for the Crunchyroll Anime Awards. Cho became engaged to Anne Marie Salter in October 2015, and they married in May 2016. They first met each other through Super Mario fanfiction. They have two cats named Effie and Sophie, which can sometimes be seen in Cho's video. Cho's personal views on various topics were used in media articles such as BBC News, Kotaku, The Washington Post and others.
