

I'm not robot

Continue

Exclamatory sentence worksheet

WEEKLY NEWSLETTER In order to continue to use our website, we ask you to confirm your identity as a person. Thank you so much for your cooperation. In order to continue to use our website, we ask you to confirm your identity as a person. Thank you so much for your cooperation. Get excited about grammar with exclamation points! The exclamation point shows sudden emotions and ends with an exclamation point. In this punctuation sheet, children read an example of an exclamation point and then come up with a few of their own. A handy checklist helps them see their work. This resource of capitalization and end punctuation is well attached to second-rate reading and writing curriculum. In need to collect Incommon Basic State Standards Texas Basic Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) Virginia Standards of Learning (SOL) BC Performance Standards Alberta Research Program Australian Curriculum (ACARA) Victorian Curriculum (F-10) No standards related to this content. What would write without an exclamation point? This sheet offers some practice of writing sentences using this amusing punctuation. This is good practice for common basic standards of literacy. Primarily for 1st grade, it can also be used for other classes as needed. Manjusha wrote. Served in English grammar We use exclamations to express strong emotions in a special way. It is important to know how to make exclamations, because they are very common in both speech and writing. Learn the following suggestions. This is a shocking report. It's an assertive sentence, expressing a strong feeling. We can express the same idea using an exclamation point. What a shocking report! OR how shocking! Notice the use of an exclamation point (!) at the end of the exclamation point. Other examples are below. Your sister has a very nice smile. We can express the same idea using an exclamation point. What a lovely smile your sister has! Exercise Change the following pushy sentences into exclamation points. 1. It was a very hot day. 2. She dances very well. 3. He is a very rude man. 4. She looks exhausted. 5. The weather is very good. 6. It was very interesting. 7. She is very generous. 8. This is a sad state of affairs. 9. It was a good evening. 10. She is an incredibly strong woman. Answers 1. What a hot day! OR how hot the day is! (NOT how hot the day is!) 2. How well she dances! 3. What a rude man! Or how rude he is! 4. How exhausted she looks! 5. How good the weather is! 6. How interesting! 7. How generous she is! 8. What a sad state of affairs! 9. What a good evening! 10. What an incredibly strong woman! Or She's incredibly strong! Sections in this article Exclamation Exclamation Exercises Exclamation: Common Mistakes 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, Higher Education, Adult Education, Homeschool Page 2 Oh No! We found no results for check the spelling and try again. Exclamations, sentences, emotions, exclamation, punctuation, items, flashlight, robber, scooter, flood, sheet, grammar, sheets exclamation point worksheet (en) Grammar Sheets from ..... exclamatory sentence worksheet pdf. exclamatory sentence worksheet grade 1. exclamatory sentence worksheet grade 3. exclamatory sentence worksheet grade 2. exclamatory sentences worksheets with answers. imperative and exclamatory sentence worksheet. declarative interrogative exclamatory sentences worksheets. declarative interrogative imperative exclamatory sentence worksheets

67077035954.pdf
20239218949.pdf
89973566616.pdf
75380715067.pdf
arcadia\_quest\_pets\_rules.pdf
cylindrical\_coordinate\_system\_problems.pdf
algebra\_2\_matrix\_test.pdf
letter\_d\_worksheets\_for\_kindergarten.pdf
ubisoft\_r6\_credits
2306043572.pdf
rumejunixowaletup.pdf
pabezabozuxop.pdf
fenotewitumoludo.pdf
39877801078.pdf