Not available to buy in this this It was a model of advanced features and design that would be incorporated into the cameras in the future. Four years of intensive research, exhaustive experimentation and intensive testing followed before it became available to serious amateur and professional photographers in late 1964. In the early 70's, this venerable machine was updated with internal refinements and given a meter with a large range and hot shoes to use with flash and other accessories. The traditional classic design and simple elegance associated with the earlier models of the famous Asahi Pentax have been preserved in Spotmatic, despite the inclusion of many highly developed features. Carefully constructed by craftsmen, Asahi Pentax cameras remain the standard of perfection and precision in the world of 35 mm single-reflective cameras.
