I have a quite long document in which I want to list some results in the document. I'm trying to use the listings package to achieve this. My problem is that the output of each result is very long and I would like to reduce the height of the displayed columns. The results are pretty wide by default, but I'm really interested in reducing the width. \documentclass{article} \usepackage{listings} \begin{document} \begin{lstlisting}[language=R,xleftmargin=1cm,xrightmargin=1cm,caption 520fdb1ae7
