

Publication Rights Agreement

This form is sent on behalf of the editorial board of the McGill Science Undergraduate Research Journal (MSURJ).

An article has been submitted to MSURJ entitled _____ on behalf of _____.

The purpose of this Publications Rights Agreement (PRA) is twofold:

1. Introduce MSURJ and outline the implications of publishing in this undergraduate journal;
2. Obtain permission from all co-authors and relevant parties involved in the research (i.e., supervisors, principal investigators, lab managers) so as to proceed with publishing.

I. Introduction

The McGill Science Undergraduate Research Journal (MSURJ) launched in Fall 2005 as a student-run initiative to benefit the undergraduate research community. Our mission is to encourage, publish, and promote undergraduate research. This key resource unites student researchers, student editors, faculty supervisors, graduate students, and faculty reviewers. As an undergraduate journal drawing on peer reviews from around the world, this journal intends to provide aspiring undergraduates with valuable experience in the process of writing and publishing peer-reviewed academic articles.

II. Review process

Our review process operates as follows: the MSURJ Editorial Board drafts a shortlist of articles from among all submissions. Potential peer-reviewers for these articles are contacted until at least two reviewers are secured. Articles are conditionally accepted or conditionally rejected based on the combined judgment of the editorial board and the recommendations of the peer-reviewers. Author(s) of conditionally accepted papers will then have the opportunity to revise their manuscript and submit a final version for publication. Author(s) of conditionally rejected papers are encouraged to submit to future editions of MSURJ.

III. Authorship and rights

MSURJ is an open-access and non-proprietary journal. Authors retain all copyrights to their research work. MSURJ supports the authors' ownership of their submitted intellectual property; as such, reproduction of any material appearing within MSURJ is not permitted without the permission of the signing authors of that article's PRA. As this journal is intended primarily as an undergraduate journal distributed within the McGill scientific research community, articles may be submitted to other journals subsequent to publication in MSURJ. MSURJ reserves the rights, unlimited in time and territory, to copy-edit, reproduce, publish, and distribute the accepted manuscript; copies of the journal are produced and distributed in hard-copy and online. The authors also grant MSURJ the right to use the article in whole or in part in electronic form. This includes interactive and multimedia use as well as posting the article in full or in part or its abstract on social media, and the right to alter the article to the extent necessary for such use.

IV. Consent

Research carried out in collaboration with professors and other students requires that all authors approve article submission. All co-authors, primary investigators, and other relevant parties with claims to the intellectual property of the submission must indicate their consent for the author(s) to proceed with publishing in MSURJ.

As the primary (submitting) author, I hereby declare that I have read this PRA, and grant my full permission to MSURJ to publish the submitted article. In addition, I declare that all co-authors and investigators with claims to the intellectual property of this submission have read this document and signed below.

Signed,
