

I'm not robot

Continue

Bonnibel bubblegum adventure time

Kent OsborneJack PendarvisJulia PottAshly BurchAdam Muto Hanna K. NyströmAleks Sennwald[2] Previous Rap Bear's Son Next Seventeen Bonnibel Bubblegum is the fourth episode of the tenth season of Adventure Time. This is two hundred and seventyth episode in general. Synopsis's long-lost artifact causes Princess Bubblegum to harken back to the creation of candy kingdom. The plot episode begins with Finn, Jake, Princess Bubblegum and Marceline, relaxing and swimming in an apple cider pond. Finn brings Princess Bubblegum a cup of cider. This cup was previously given to BMO by mysterious scientist Always BMO closure. The PB admits that it reminds him of the dish his Uncle Gumbald once had. Finn then asked the princess to tell them about his family. Although Bonnibel doesn't want to, he decides to tell them. The scene is interrupted by a flashback, about 800 years ago.

Bonniebel was lonely, wandering the apocalyptically wasteland, chopping. He then went to his home, where he lived with his brother Neddy. He told Neddy that he wanted to make them a family because they were just each other and no one else. PB then brought large pieces of rubber and created a device that gave them life. The first relative was an older woman, Aunt Lolly, the next was a tall young man, known as cousin Chicle, and the last was an older man known as Uncle Gumbald. The family lived a simple, happy life together until Gumbald began to get ideas. He chopped down the taffy trees they had planted and decided to use them to build a salon then revealed his plans to build candy in the city. However, Bubblegum decides to finish his plans and adds butterscotch to the lake where Gumbald plans to build his own city. Gumbald then became irritated with Bonnie and grows treacherous to her so she begins to hatch a plan. He, Chicle and Lolly set up Mr Cream Puff to serve as a Bubblegum boy and keep him busy if they plan to overthrow him. When Bonniebel comes back, he'll hear his relatives insult him and plan to poison him with a chemical to make him look like Mr. Cream Puff. Gumbald then poisons Chicle and Lolly by making these easy-minded candy people. Lolly becomes a talking pinata known as Manfried. While Chicle turns into a brown candy ball known as Crunchy. Bubblegum then confronts his uncle, who voices that he is his equal, but he claims that he is evil when he is going to make an embrace of a obedient candy person and take care of his brother Neddy. Angry, Bonniebel used his pea-shooting Taser to make the poison stand, turning Gumbaldi. Sprayed with poison, Gumbald converted a talking bowl of fruit punch known as PUNCHY. With her family turned into harmless, silly candy, Bonnie first found that the situation was difficult. But he soon noticed that his relatives seemed happier in their new forms. Prubs then decided to keep his family their new forms of candy and are his companions. Finally succumbing to the small name his uncle called her, she decided that her new citizens would call her princess. The scene then cuts to the present, where the group is now Tree Fort. Washing a cup, PB is reminded once again of his family when he sees that this is one monogram ed dish Gumbald had made 800 years ago. Shocked, he asked the BMO where he got the dish. BMO then said that the man in the cup (Gumbald) gave it to him, revealing that he was somehow back. Characters from Major Characters Minor characters Mentioned in the Trivia basement cabin have an Arizona license plate hanging on the wall, license plate A12 3B2. This is the PB hair pinkish purple color hex code. Strangely, two of the first three candy people don't really have candy, like a piñata and a glass bowl of fruit punch is not considered candy. [3] The cultural references of Bonnie riding over the desert smoothing hills of the bull in post-apocalyptic gear bears a striking resemblance to the opening movie Tank Girl. The horn-like bumps in Bonnie's helmet are similar to those of a tank girl, and both steers wear pink and green goggles. At the beginning of a flashback, when a young Bonniebel drives through a wasteland jacket/pull, it's similar to the first scene of Rey's Star Wars: The Force Awakens, when she's defecated through Jakku. The fraudster who tries to rob the PB says, Haha, what? You brought a pea shooter techno harpoon fight, referring to the oft-quoted Sean Connery line Untouchables, ... Brings a knife to the gun fight. Episode connections sliver hiding time Always BMO closure appears again. The taffy tree field (which had previously been held on the field stumps by Susan Strong and Reboot) is shown being cut by Gumbald. The cabin that PB lived in from Hot Digitty Doom to Dark Cloud also makes an appearance with Lake Butterscotch, at which point their origins have been revealed. Although Princess Bubblegum had mentioned to Hot Digitty Doom that the cabin was built in Gumbald, it did not reveal all the circumstances and impact of its creation until now. Mr Cream Puff had previously mentioned and demonstrated that the PB boy is a Slumber Party Panic and Vault. After being mentioned several times, Gumbald is finally introduced. Storyline analysis When Princess Bubblegum says families are complicated, Finn and Marceline both dig in with the connection (Finn referring to her relationship with her biological parents and Marceline referring to Hunson Abadeer). Jake is not involved, although unknowingly he has a complicated family background as well. Banana Guard's 16 track Bubblegum from Thin Yellow Line has proven to be exaggerated, but correct. He mentioned that when the first candy rose against him, to monsters. In fact, they were turned into simpler candy. Also, two of them were around Gumbald and not Bubblegum himself and he was only transformed into his self-defense. It's possible that this is why Princess Bubblegum made today's candy for people - so what happened to Gumbald and others won't happen again. The flaws in the taffy tree field that Gumbald cuts off at night are right in front of the early Candy Kingdom, while in their appearances in the present, the field is significantly further away from the kingdom (at the entrance to Hyouomen's hiding place) than a flashback. It's possible, however, that Bonnie is just recalling parts of the story wrong, because her also quite unlikely that the 10 or so taffy trees gumbald cut down were enough to build the entire cabin. Production notes Videos Gallery Official Art Adventure Time December line-upBonniebel Bubblegum title card design writer and storyboard artist Hanna K.

NyströmBonniebel Bubblegum storyboard panelBonniebel Bubblegum title card definitions storyboard artist and writer Hanna K NyströmAd photo of this gallery Background Art Screenshots Add a photo to this gallery Links Español Polskiugu Portés do Brasil Русский community content is CC-BY-SA if otherwise noted. Biological age 19 (from The Treasury)[5]18 (to Mortal Recoil and Again Too Young)[6]13 (Mortal Recoil to Too Young)82[7] Type Gum Person (Candy Elemental) Sex Female Occupation Ruler Candy Kingdom (registered princess)[8]Scientist and inventor of relatives Of Mother Gum (older)Neddy (brother) Significant other (s) MarcelineRr. Cream Puff (formerly) Introduced Animated short (rough cut)Slumber Party Panic (official) Lastst appearance obsidian Pronounced Princess Bonniebel Bonnie Bubblegum (often referred to as PB and occasionally Peebles or P-Bubs)[9] is one of the protagonists of the series Adventure Time and first appeared in a short animated. Princess Bubblegum is the current incarnation of Candy Elemental, comparable to the inhabitants of the Candy Kingdom, who all consist of types of desserts and candies. He reigns over Candy Kingdom, but in the Season 6 episode of Hot Digitty Doom (the first part of the season finale), the election was held and he lost king Ooo by a landslide. As a result, he no longer ruled the Kingdom of Candy, and the King of Ooo replaced him as the new ruler until the rebellion against the King of Ooo allowed him to reclaim the throne in the Dark Cloud. The history of Backstory Bonniebel leaves The Mother Gum Princess Bonniebel Bubblegum formed as part of a huge, blob-like hive of mind made of pink rubber known as Mother Gum in the years immediately after the Seed War.[10] which spread across the destroyed city and appeared in Simon & Marcy. In the aforementioned episode, a Mother Rubber ally earned a titular character, giving Simon the soup he wanted for the younger Rceline. In a flashback from Bonnie and Neddy taking place over 800 years before the events of the show, she and her brother Neddy drop to the ceiling of the abandoned building where Mother Gum is now resting. As shown in the game's adventure time in the latest cutscene: Discover the Dungeon Because I Don't Know!, after he came out of the rubber, he learned to think, feel and be independent. His sentient parents remained far below Candy Kingdom, like a huge blob of chewing gum. They were eventually released to Ooo after their defeat. A young Bonniebel chopping as a child, about 800 years before the events of the series, Bonniebel lived in the post-apocalyptic wasteland that Ooo had. Living in a hideout next to a radioactive river (which later became a place in the Candy Kingdom was built) only for his brother, he longed for more family members, creating Uncle Gumbald with Aunt Lolly and cousin Chicle. He had planned for them to match specific archetypes to create a family dynamic and make their lives less lonely, but Gumbald soon revealed to his niece that he was planning to build candy in the city. Bonnie, not liking this plan, created Lake Butterscotch instead of the place where her uncle wanted to build apartments. Gumbald, enraged by it, began to develop a plan to get rid of his niece and take control of the family. Sending Bonniebel off a date with Mr. Cream Puff, whom Gumbald had created for himself, he, along with Lolly and Chicle, discussed a plan to overthrow Bonniebel and build his own candy city. During this debate, Gumbald presented his new creation: Dum-Dum Juice, a serum that makes Bubblegum a dociful and easy-thinking candy theme like Mr. Cream Puff. Gumbald then lured Lolly and Chicle into eating cupcakes laced with serum, making two cheerful and simple piñatas and candy ball respectively. When Bonniebel returned from his companion, Gumbald tried to change him, too, but it ultimately failed because Bonnie managed to cause a serum leak on Gumbaldi's face, turning her into a punch bowl.[11] Bonnie decided that the trio was best left with candy people, as she claimed they seemed happier with their simple-minded and obedient new forms and proclaimed themselves their princess. Since then, most of the princess themes she created were loyal to her and easy-minded, likely to avoid future incidents similar to those she created for family members. He eventually built his kingdom and created more Candy People. At one point, he befriended Shoko, one of Finn's earlier lives. Shoko originally sent bath boy gang's Bath Boy Gang leader to steal princess amulet and sneaks into his castle by knocking himself unconscious and saying it was the Bath Boy Gang. Bubblegum saves him and brings him inside the kingdom, and treats his wounds. Shoko opens up about his childhood and two connections. Shoko considers staying in Princess Bubblegum and against, but the spy bath boy gang threatens to tie the Bath Boy Gang leader that he gave up the job that would lead to his death. Fearing for her life, Shoko pretends to beat up a spy, resulting in high praise for her combative ability to princess Bubblegum. Bubblegum then seeks Shoko's help in creating the first Gumball Guardians. Later, she tells Shoko she has a surprise of her, ordering young Peppermint Butler to bring out a wooden box where she reveals she has made a mechanical hand for Shoko to replace one her parents sold. Shoko's going to tear up and make an apology for needing to go back to her room. Later, Shoko sneaks into Princess Bubblegum's room and reaches for her amulet. However, the Gumball Guardian catches him in the act, setting off the alarm and waking Princess Bubblegum. Shoko panics and swipes the amulet off Princess Bubblegum's neck and jumps onto the platform below her. However, Shoko has blasted Gumball Guardians with laser eyes, causing her to fall into the river with green, toxic chemical waste beneath her. Princess Bubblegum orders Gumball Guardians to save her, but when one of the Gumball Guardians places her hand on toxic waste, it is burned away. Princess Bubblegum tells them to take a break from the night as she looks at sadness. Bubblegum watches for a few more moments before turning her back on the toxic waste river. [12] Bubblegum and Marceline break up centuries before the start of the series, and some time after the foundation of Candy Kingdom, Princess Bubblegum met and befriended Marceline the Vampire Queen, eventually concluding a romantic relationship with her. This is also when he got his beloved Rock T-shirt from Marceline during the performance. [13] They spent time exploring Candy Kingdom's elaborate rock candy mining complex, where Bubblegum caught Marceline vandalizing her property, although Marceline even got her to tag something there. However, as Candy Kingdom kept growing responsibility for the governance of the Candy Kingdom became increasingly demanding and Bubblegum began pushing Marceline away. [14] It came to a head when Bonniebel was called to the Glass Kingdom to help protect this dragon molto larvo, when he put his attention to saving people over his quarrelsome girlfriend. After Marceline put her true feelings into the sedation of the song, sealing the dragon in the process, the couple separated, and did not find common ground together for several hundred years. [13] Bubblegum Holding Infant Flame Princess The & Water, a reminder showing that 15 years before the Flame Princess was born, the messenger of Fire Kingdom gives the Flame King the word that her offspring are more powerful than she could ever dream of. The flame king orders the messenger to leave the child in the woods to perish. The messenger couldn't kill the baby, so he left her with Crystal Lumberjack, whose house Flame Princess was about to burn. The logger screams in shock and flame princess runs into the woods, burning trees. Princess Bubblegum sees it, and wearing a protective suit, returns to flame princess fire kingdom. He tells Flame King he shouldn't let him wander the woods because he's too dangerous. Princess Bubblegum tells the Flame King to find a way to contain flame princess power, and she continues to do so by locking the Flame Princess up. The scene turns flame princess into her lantern and the flashback ends. Adventure Time is expected to have Finn recorded Princess Bubblegum more than a few times, although he will stop saving him from episodes of Dungeon and Lady & Peebles. As the series continues he learns to defend himself with science. It also seems that she has had previous run-ins with Marceline the Vampire Queen (who is one of only two well-known characters who call her her real name Bonniebel or simply Bonnie, the other being flame princess), but both are now close friends. He previously created Lemongrab (his first experiment went wrong), then sent him away to live a shadowed life inside his castle. Princess Bubblegum also does other scientific experiments that differ from the very successful astrophysics. In the second season of the two-part finale of Mortal Folly and Mortal Recoil, he sends Finn and Jake in an effort to stop Lich from killing, owning and taking over everyone's souls on Earth in Ooo. He gives finn the gauntlet hero billy because it is the only known weapon that can damage the Lich, and the sweater he made himself. Ice King captures Princess Bubblegum and chases after Finn and Jake get their blessing to marry her, but she accidentally drops the princess into Lich's well power. She has soon melted into a pile of pink-rubber candy goo and is rushed to hospital. It soon became apparent that the spirit of Lich was possessed by the princess and eventually threaded her into a giant monster that almost tears apart candy kingdom. Finn's recruiting Ice King to immobilize him with ice-ice capabilities. Unfortunately, the frozen princess topples over and bursts into chewing gum pieces. Doctors reunited, but missing all the necessary pieces of his apparent age decreased to 13 (the same age as Finn at the time). As a 13-year-old, Princess Bubblegum is technically younger than the Earl of Lemongrab and she claims her right to the throne until she turns 18 again. After in attempts to prank the Earl until she leaves, Princess Bubblegum is forced to regain her 18-year form with a stake in biomass (candy) from Candy People and hug (and kiss) Finn. After turning to his true age and size in The League of Young, he behaves as if there were events that happened earlier in the day (when he was 13) actually happened five years ago. Curiously, in the Vault, it turns out that Princess Bubblegum, living during Finn's previous incarnation of Shoko, had announced that she was 19 and not 18, and is now probably not entirely honest about her age. In Burning Low, Princess Bubblegum reveals that Flame Princess is physically unstable, and she prevents Flame Princess's Elemental Matrix from causing the end of the world: she draws Jake to block a hole resulting from a kiss between Finn and Princess Flame, thus cutting the Flame Princess's oxygen outfits and stopping the reaction (and almost suffocating her with Finn, who had jumped down after her). She also tells Jake that flame princess doesn't know that Princess Bubblegum is the one who locked her away as a child. During the events of Lady & Peebles, Princess Bubblegum and Lady Rainicorn traced the missing Finn and Jake into an uncharted ice cave, believing that the Ice King has caught them. After surviving dangerous encounters during the dungeon, it turns out that Ricardo created the situation to lure Bubblegum into the cave and force him to marry him. Having already poisoned Finn and Jake zanoits, Ricardo beats Lady Rainicorn by tying her to a knot. Princess Bubblegum then challenges her to a fistfight, winning by ripping her newly attached limbs off her open grooves. He then drags Finn, Jake and Ice King back to Candy Kingdom's Lady's back, creating a new heart for Ice King out of Ricardo's grooves, caramel and maracas. She is also the first person to study Lady Rainicorn's pregnancy (with the exception of Lady Rainicorn herself). Princess Bubblegum patches up her rocky relationship with Lemongrab in You Made Me, making her Lemongrab 2, so she has a friend who truly understands her. At the end of the episode, the princess offers them an affectionate farewell and they both invite her to visit at any time, indicating that three of them are on good terms. In all your luck, however, he sends Finn and Jake on a mission because Lemongrab clones are running out of food. Finn and Jake, upon arrival, learned that Lemongrabs have been using food to create candy for people because Princess Bubblegum accidentally left a recipe for making candy for people there. Luckily, after Lemonjon turned herself into food after almost destroying candy kingdom, Princess Bubblegum deletes Candy's life formula in her mind. In the season 4 finale, he's the first person to realize that Billy is afflicted by Lich, and To warn Finn and Jake, but it's too late. In Suitor, Peppermint Butler tried to find him a suitor, settled in Braco. Despite all Braco's attempts to win his heart, he has no feelings for him, and he insists that Braco will never be happy with him. With pity and kindness, he created a robotic clone of himself to be Braco's partner. PB later admitted that he loved Braco the same way he loves all candy people, but he didn't force the relationship. For the rest of the fifth season, he has seen a focus on all his research projects and isolating himself in his lab. In the Vault Finn calls Bubblegum over the Tree House, where he continues to knock over his oven and tear a bunch of floorboards, which eventually reveals a hollow out hole where Shoko is buried. Shoko's ghost rises into a hole and hands Finn Bubblegum a long-lost amulet before disappearing, showing his skeleton remains. It shows that Ghost Lady was only haunted by Finn's hopes she will soon return to Princess Bubblegum's charm. Finn hands Princess Bubblegum an amulet where he exerts shock. He looks past Finn and sees Shoko's skeleton, realizing who the skeleton belongs to. Finn cuts him off to say something, noting that he is Shoko and claims that Princess Bubblegum is not 19, but rather a bazillion years old. Princess Bubblegum laughs nervously. In Hot Digitty Doom, Candy Kingdom had its first election. The election was held between Princess Bubblegum and the King of Ooo. PB did campaign as he thought Candy People knew he loved them and that they were smart enough to understand King was a bad person (which he is). Unfortunately, the king persuaded everyone to vote for him, causing his election. PB, unable to stand candy people after seeing his innocent faces, turned his crown and left (with Peppermint Butler) to an old, dirty salon built by his Uncle Gumbald, which they worked hard to fix and make it a nice place to live until he got back into business as a Princess of Candy Kingdom. In Varmints, while chasing varmints that were her bio-engineered pumpkins, she and Marceline come across the old Candy Kingdom crystal mines where Princess Bubblegum had caught Marceline graffiti on the walls back before they stopped being friends. Marceline convinced him to leave his mark on the wall that said, Marceline made me write it. It has also emerged that the two would tell jokes and stories for hours there before Princess Bubblegum became too busy for the Princess business. In the latest episode of Adventure Time Mini-Series: Stakes, Dark Cloud, Crunchy (who was abused by King Ooo) pushed King Ooo into a fireplace causing him to melt. Crunchy then took charge and ordered candy for citizens to help PB (with Finn and Jake) destroy the Dark Cloud. After that, Bubblegum usurped Crunchy and got his throne back so he could put Peppermint Butler back together after he was smashed to pieces during an explosion in the cabin. Soon Princess Bubblegum was back as Princess Candy Kingdom. In Thin Yellow Line, it turns out banana guards that the first Candy People turned on the PB and it turned them into monsters. They also say that Neddy was imprisoned under the Palace Tree, not put there for his own safety (although it's probably just an urban legend because Neddy wasn't chained or forced to stay) and they said he destroyed all the rattleballs, which gave the impression that he did so for no good reason. Princess Bubblegum begins the Great Gum war in Gumbaldia, Princess Bubblegum's planned war against her Uncle Gumbald's new urban-state Gumbaldia. Finn and Jake confronted Gumbald, hoping to take the war away. Finn at one point got Gumbald like him and arguably took advantage of all the hostilities between Candy Kingdom and Gumbaldia, while splashing Finn and Jake with the victory juice. Finn and Jake went back to Bonnie with a signed peace agreement. Princess Bubblegum was initially excited and was about to hug Finn, but couldn't look past her bizarre scent. Peppermint Butler then walked over to Finn and Jake, wiping them off in a towel, and then got around dumber, naked, baby-like mint. Princess Bubblegum then realized that the victory juice was Gumbald's dum dum juice, and she had tried to let him submit to it. Furious, Princess Bubblegum officially declared war on Gumbaldia. In Obsidian, a few years after the series finale, he and Marceline (now his girlfriend) returned to the Glass Kingdom once again to stop Molto Larvo, though not without hesitation, as both recalled the unfortunate events that unfolded during their previous visit. Together, they were able to stop the dragon from going on a rampage and confirmed their intention to spend eternity together. The features of Princess Bubblegum are the sensation-resistant, humanoid-built pink rubber[15] and it has become clear that the current incarnation of Candy Elemental (Elementals are the embodiments of the four main elements that make up the world: ice, fire, candy and mucus. They have existed since the beginning of life, living, dying and reincarnation for eons and millennia). [16] Although Princess Bubblegum seemed to be in her late teens, she is actually much older than it looks. [17] Personality, although Princess Bubblegum is usually kind, kind-hearted and polite, she can be very temperamental and has shown the malicious aspect of her personality when she is overcome. He was willing to break in and look for the King of Ooo to find evidence to support his suspicions against him, believing he was a fraud, and went so far as to arrest him, and others to silence him; but he released them within an hour after seeing the love of the tree trunks and Mr. Pig. [18] He also shows a non-hesitant willingness to torment the Ice King after he inadvertently infects Candy Kingdom with Freezer Burn Flu and refuses to help him by treating them by screaming voluntarily. But in this case, he didn't realize what he was trying to do was wrong, and cries out for stress and guilt when Finn reveals it. [19] Even with his kind mindset, his moral code is not as strict as Finn's, and there are hints of the darker aspect of his personality. For example, he was shown randomly cutting limbs off tiny round creatures with scissors and reachath them in different places when Finn sneaks in, although the creatures show no pain and seem perfectly happy to be reconfigured. [20] Princess Bubblegum was also prepared to use sabotage and forced sacrifice to survive. [21] His humor is also morbid and at times inappropriate, as when Finn picks up the poison of paralysis and he says: It is a paralysing drink, Finn! Don't touch it, or it will paralyze you forever! and then giggles. [22] In the hidden chamber of his castle, the walls were cuffed by skeets. [23] Bubblegum also adores the people of his kingdom and puts its safety above all else. In his dedication, he sometimes drives himself to exhaustion in his duties. He is also a rational thinker of skepticism toward magic, noting it as scientific principles presented as mystical hoodoo. He also claims that all magic is science, and the Wizards just don't know what they're doing, so they call it magic. [24] It seems that he regularly organises events and presentations, such as science conferences, parties and talent shows, and regularly attends. When he retreated at the age of 13, he exhibits a playful attitude and a willingness to perform with the prank of Finn. Just before Princess Bubblegum is back to her normal age she mentions that she enjoyed temporarily being 13 because she had a few responsibility that came with being the ruler of Candy Kingdom and that she could behave like a child again. Princess Bubblegum's own words were thirteenth, blobbalooby, 18 years old, plop-dumps and waddle-sags. After the events surrounding her age regression, Bubblegum began to feel very vulnerable, and as she must have the opportunity to live forever is not yet scientifically possible, she makes a clone-Sphinx herself called Goliad. [25] He also begins exhibiting strong authoritarian behavior when he starts spying on all his subjects, and begins to take more convincing action from then on, the tree trunks even goes so far as to label his fascist. [26] In addition, his concern for the fate of Candy Kingdom in the event of his death has led him to commit questionable acts and become pragmatic nature; its consistent monitoring of anything that may be a threat (e.g. Flame Princess). Despite the moral ambiguity of his actions, they are motivated by his desire to defend when they are taken to a potentially paranoid level. It could best be seen when the Flame Princess called her a bad person for her actions and Princess Bubblegum was visibly hurt, indicating that she was not going to be malicious. Natural appearance Main article: Princess Bubblegum/outfit Princess Bubblegum has light pink leather, her magenta-pink display consists of actual chewing gum, and she usually dresses in a puffy-sleeved flowing dark pink dress with a pink trim sleeve, purple trim at the scoop-neck collar. When she does any scientific experiments, she wears a lab coat, her hair often tied, either up in a bun or in a ponytail, otherwise let out like her formal outfit. Usually she wears nothing more than her original dress from an episode-to-episode and her hair is usually seen in different styles: A nap party in Panic, she wears a white lab coat and goggles over her regular dress. In Trouble in Lumpy Space, she wears a white, purple sleeved dress with pink and purple ruffles and purple flats for the Mallow Tea Ceremony. In The Duke, his skin turns green and loses most of his hair. He wears a black suit filled with a certain type of candy milk, and later wears a purple striped tank top and white pants. In What Have You Done?, she wears a fumigation mask (which she later removes) with her usual dress and later she puts on some kind of pink gloves. In Other Tarts, she wears a yellow, orange and pink dress reminiscent of a tart. In The Real You, he starts wearing white shorts, a yellow t-shirt with red Rainicorn, pink sneakers and white knee-highs. (She is also shown in this outfit, Video Makers and Hug Wolf, as she makes a cameo appearance.) During his science BQq he wears a white and blue, sharp-shouldered science suit. In Death of Bloom, she wears a ruffle fuchsia and magenta dress and later in the episode, after eating the Princess Plant, her hairstyle becomes shorter, in a more sparkly style. In Susan Strong, she wears a light blue tutu with a light pink sweater and white flats. Her hair is worn in a beehive-like style. Later in that episode she wears a light blue dress with watercolor effects at the bottom, a love of heart sleeves, a blue belt with a lighter pearl in it and a matching shocker with her hair down. In Go With Me, she wears a blue, off-the-shoulder dress, and later, a yellow nightgown with pink dots. She is seen wearing that night's dress in many other episodes. In Video Makers, she wears a pink sweater with a hood, purple jeans and pink flats. She also wears this outfit lemonthope part 1 and elemental. When he's filmed, he's wearing a white and a gold gladiator, and her hair in multi-part ponytail curls at the bottom and front. In Mortal Folly, she wears a purple and pink meditating outfit and at the beginning of the episode she wears earrings with gems matching one of her crowns. At the end of Mortal Recoil and Too Young, she has turned 13 and has a shorter magenta and pink v-neck ball dress with a purple belt and short hair. In Wizard Battle, she wears a very puffy purple dress with a pink collar and pink high heels. In What Was Missing, she wears a magenta dress with a pink and purple cropped sweater or sweater, magenta pants and high pink boots. Later, he puts on a Marceline rock shirt on that costume. She also wears her hair back in this episode. It was the most popular outfit in the series. In Creeps, she wears a floor-length pink sleeveless dress, a swan-shaped mask, and a long pearl necklace with matching earrings. Her hair is in a beehive-like style. In Holly Jolly's Secrets Part II, she wears a Christmas sweater over her regular clothes. In Goliad, she wears a pink and purple nightgown with her hair in a low ponytail. In Burning Low, she wears a short pink dress with purple ruffles at the top and purple high heels. Later in the episode, she wears a magenta dress with a dark stripe down the middle. She also seems to have her hair cut differently in this episode. In Lady & Peebles, she wears pink snow parka and brown snow boots with pink and purple science suit underneath. At the beginning of the episode she wears a purple sling bag. In You Made Me, he wears a pink shirt, pink bottoms and purple flats. He wears his hair with a crown knife. In Reign of the Gunters, she wears a pink gypsy dress, purple gladiator sandals and gold hoop earrings. Her hair is cut shorter in this episode, and is larger. In All Little People, as a little person (after being dumped by little Finn), he wears a pink crop top, dark purple pants and magenta shoes. His hair is tied to the muffin. All your guilt is wearing his lab coat with some glasses. Her hair is in a simple ponytail. Big Birdman, he's wearing a pink diving suit. In Suitor, she wears her lab coat with a pink and purple turtle-neck sweatshirt underneath. Just like Goliadis, he wears glasses. Part of her hair is in a bun while the rest of her hair hangs down her shoulders. In another five short graybles, she wears a blue night dress with pink spots on top of the mold. In Wizards Only, Fools, he wears the same outfit as the Time Sandwich. As a disguise she wears a voluminous white suit with a very wide collar and a white and purple hat over her hair, which is cut in the same way as when she was 13. Under it, he's wearing a green and yellow science suit. Later, he wears an orange prison suit. At the end of the episode, he is seen again in a lab coat her hair returned to her usual height, although probably less than a day had passed. In Sky Witch, she wears a purple jacket over her rock shirt, pink pants, pink socks and dark purple ankle boots. Most of his hair is in his jacket, but the branch hangs out. She also wears blue earrings. Too old, he's wearing a pink jumpsuit and purple boots. Her hair is braided. In Earth and Water, he wears a fireproof suit when fire kingdom. In the Vault, her past herself wears a brown dress, black boots, and her charm. Her hair has two ponytails each tied to a brown strip of fabric. Later in the episode, while she was asleep, she was shown wearing a white dress with some hashed parts. In Red Starved, when Finn tried to get his help using his halo-pendant, part of his hair was shown to be tied to braids. Later in the episode, he was shown wearing a purple science suit and dark purple boots. In Me Fixed Truck, she wears a short white dress, black flats, and has shorter hair. In James, he's wearing a white full-body suit and pink over it while outside the ship. In apple weddings, she wears a pink dress with a yellow flower she broach. She also wears pink heels and her hair is waist length. In Rattleballs, her past self wears a dark green dress similar to her brown one vault, dark purple cape, black boots and her hair styled with crown braids. In the same episode, she wears a light grey dress with a silver belt, grey trousers, brown boots and dark grey animal fur. Her hair is shorter and bulkier, with two parts pulled at the front and wrapped in brown fabric. In Breezy, she wears a turquoise-green dress with bits of red, dark pink and dark purple on top as well as a pair of headphones on her usual crown. Her hair is also depicted in the waist length. In Finn's imagination, she wears a pink dress with a purple coat. Her hair is either cut short or her coat is pressed. In James II, he wears a magenta shirt, light brown pants, white socks, brown shoes, a hat and a dark green bag. She has her hair tied in a curly bun. In addition, her thighs have been shown to be thicker than usual, similar to The Jungle Princess, as well as Fionna's. In Something Big, she wears a purple tank top, blue jeans and blue and white shoes. Her hair is waist-length and larger. In Princess Day, she wears a long-sleeved purple sweater and her hair is short shoulder length style. In Nemesis, she wears a long-sleeved magenta dress with a purple belt and purple boots. Her hair is also larger than usual and has waist length. In Jake Brick, she was seen wearing a purple cloth and pink dress under her lab coat and dark purple heels. Her hair was tied in a ponytail with some awesome high heels. Later in the episode, he wears a purple shirt depicting I Love a bunny. In pajamas war, she has short hair and wears a light blue pajama top with a picture of Timmy on top and purple pajama bottoms. Later in Hot Digitty Doom, he wears a white t-shirt, brown bottoms and blue slippers. In Have You Seen the Muffin Mess, she wears a lime party top, purple goggles and her hair has a pony tail. In Varmints, she wears a tucked-in beige, polo shirt with a chest pocket, blue jeans buckled high in a belted belt, olive brown boots, and her hair in a ponytail. He also wears a green and white hat, which he loses during the episode. In Vampires About, he has shoulder-length hair and wears striped shirt shorts, which he wears pretty much all the stakes in episodes. In Scamps, she wears a thick purple top with a blue ribbon around her neck and some white pants with pink boots. Her hair is shorter and wider. In Thin Yellow Line, she wears a white shirt, red skirt, black heels and later in the episode she wears a red blaster. Her hair is shorter and simple with a pony on her tail. Later in the episode is a flashback by Banana Guards, where she wears brown furry clothes and her hair is very curly. In Broke Her Crown, she wears a purple top, skirt, belt, ribbon around her neck and pink boots. Her hair is normal length. In Don't Look, after Finn changed her she wears a green cap, a white t-shirt and some red flats. Her hair is very short. In Bun Bun, she wears purple dress with ruffles, details at the bottom, white part at the top and she also wears black boots. He's got short hair in the back. Later in the episode he wears a lab coat, a white jumper underneath it, a blue shirt, black boots, and his hair on a pony tail. In The Music Hole, she wears a blue night dress with white details and a green eye mask with eye details, later in this episode she wears a purple outfit with a green charm and black flats. Her hair is in the same style as when she was younger, but added a plaid. In Wheels, she wears the same outfit as Princess Day, except for a lighter purple sweater. In High Strangeness, she wears a red and gold blazer, cream colored top, red skirt and yellowish brown boots. In Jelly Beans On Power, she wears blue shoes, black leggings, a white dress with a blue ribbon and her hair is the length of her back. In Invitation, she wears the same clothes as Bonnie and Neddy. Later in this episode, he wears gray jeans, red shoes, an orange top with white details and a blue coat. In Finn's dream Sphere, he wears a cream colored sweater, purple dungarees, dark purple shoes, rimmed glasses with his hair in a ponytail. In Elements, Patience St Pim's mega-spell had transformed him into a giant, immobile, tower-like being that has completely swallowed his entire castle with only his face and moving hands. It makes her look like mom gum due to long rubber and color the whole tower, which is the same color as his hair. He still wears his usual crown as such. She remains so up to Skyhooks II. Relationships With The Main Article: Princess Bubblegum's Relationships with Powers and Abilities of Princess Bubblegum is high in intellect, evident in her scientific apacibility and invented skills. His intelligence was notable when he built his own lab.[27] designed a formula for the revival/revival of dead Candy People, and when he created candy, Lemongrab, Goliad, Stormo and Lemongrab 2. Princess Bubblegum is bilingual, German-speaking and English. As she probably understands Lady Rainicorn, who speaks Korean, it is indirect she knows Korean. Bonnie makes her muffiny hand. He's got some kind of skill in hand-to-hand combat. He's a two-faced writer. Princess Bubblegum has some longevity caliber. [32] His biological age may be fluctuated by adding or removing the biomass of the candy. [33] Bubblegum is the most common use of her powers. After her right hand and forearm had become muffins for her nanobots, Bubblegum was able to stretch her stumped arm out the way it was originally; this is most likely how it increases and reduces the length of her hair. Princess Bubblegum was seen glowing as she soothed her brother with several snaps. [35] [11] Bubblegum shooting Scottish Mints at Patience St. Pim. Princess Bubblegum can project various forms of sums of candy (e.g. jellybeans, Scottish mints and soda pop) through her hands. He usually shoots torrents of jelly beans at high speed with the palms of his hand, and it seemed enough to dismantle some of the structures of his kingdom. Based on his chemistry, he was able to create an explosion using soda pop and Scottish mints, and the result was able to destroy the huge ice build made by Patience. He was able to communicate with Chatsberry through his dreams. [36] Bonnie in her pure, basic form. After Princess Bubblegum was defeated by her basic powers, it became associated with the candy of all galaxies. He could also change other people and objects into candy, influencing a fellow Elemental and even further transforming the already candy-like denizens of his kingdom; Finn described it as a commine. Those who were touched were unusually cheerful and sweet in personality. Her crown and matching earrings are capable of protecting the wearer's mind from the influence of Lich. [38] The energy pearl is also used enchiridion. The weaknesses of Princess Bubblegum's own arrogance sometimes acted on her Achilles heel. His excessive pride or self-confidence blinded him from time to time about the possible consequences of his actions. Like other Elementals, Lumps acted as a stabilizer Basic magic, and it's likely to put its influence back on. [39] Quotes See Princess Bubblegum/Quotes Episode appearances Major appearances minor appearances Mentioned Songs Notes Cartoon Network on the official website in 2010. Jake referred to him as a creepy mutant with a mixture of chewing gum and human DNA. When he fell in love with Finn, Finn replied: It's just because of radiation. Princess Bubblegum is an avid trumpet player, as seen in Bad Timing. Her original name was Bettie, but Pendleton Ward turned it into bonniebel because Bettie is her mother's name. Princess Bubblegum loves pink, as stated in The Real You. In Cut a Woman's Hair, she shows that she loves spaghetti. In the same episode, he was upset when his spaghetti was knocked down. She has since been seen eating it for several episodes. As seen in Mortal Folly, Creeps, Sky Witch and Reign of Gunters, Princess Bubblegum wears earrings but doesn't seem to have ears. But for all the little people, little Princess Bubblegum is shown with ears. Princess Bubblegum's gender-swapping character is Prince Gumball. Marceline was at one point the only person known to call her by her first name, Bonniebel or Bonnie briefly, until she revealed her real name Flame Princess Cooler in an attempt to ease tensions with the ruler of the Fire Kingdom. But Bonnie and Neddy, Finn calls him by his first name. Princess Bubblegum has had more outfits than any other character on the show. Princess bubblegum appears to be most active in dealing with royal affairs, as she is seen managing potluck princesses princess Potluck. Animated short, the gem of her crown is magenta, but the series is turquoise. In video-makers and Mortal Folly, he consumes other Candy people. Adam Muto says it's a lost candy biomass replacement. In the episode Susan Strong is a portrait of Princess Bubblegum and an old woman in the upper left corner of her room. He makes a kamee hug wolf in the background of the Candy Kingdom chase after a black or dark grey cat. He was wearing the same clothes as The Real You. In an episode of Puhoy, Finn named him and Roselinen's daughter after him (Bonnie). Princess Bubblegum speaks Turkish. Princess Bubblegum is a very fast bird named Morrow, which she often uses as a transport form, as seen in Death Bloom, Burning Low and Suitor. His NPC game, FusionFall, seems to be more human-like. In Sky Witch, Princess Bubblegum cites the title of Welsh poet Dylan Thomas's poem Don't Go Gentle to a Good Night, in Bonnie and Neddy, when Princess Bubblegum fell from mother Gum, she waves and tells them the click noise indicates that they may have some kind of unique method of communication. Bubblegum is the go-kart cartoon network apq Formula C cartoon. Princess Bubblegum is told by Earth and Water that she likes the taste of envelops. But it could have just been a distraction for the guards. Video game adventure time: explore dungeon because i don't know!, princess bubblegum said she was 827 years old. In the game, which was co-written by Pendleton Ward, Princess Bubblegum explains that she was part of the sensational pink goo, which was formed about a thousand years ago, and achieved sensibility after spitting out her current form at 827 years old. It is unclear how much this story is a canon to a cartoon show. The rest of the pink goo (Princess Bubblegum's parents) is locked in the lowest level of Candy Kingdom's dungeon until it is destroyed by the ultimate boss and floats through various sentient bubble forms during the closing credits. This is supported by the fact that the Art of Ooo book, it is said that Marceline is older than Princess Bubblegum. However, it is not known whether this is a canon. [40] The backlash from Bonniebel Bubblegum, which described Bubblegum's early childhood, also took place as it did 800 years ago. According to cartoon network Latin America, PB has a desire to win the Nobel Prize in Chemistry and it will be angry if no one is following his orders. When asked why he looks different from Neddy, he says they were built differently and they don't have to understand it, but accept it. His crown when he was younger is a small amount less than his current one, while the crown of Morrow is a much bigger version at all. There is a running subplot that his rule may seem uncomfortably tyrannical, but he feels he is doing what he considers to shepherd and defend the kingdom. When she was briefly expelled as a princess, the kingdom was almost destroyed and restored to stability only when she basically seized power again as an anti-democratic monarch. In High Strangeness, it is revealed that there is a resistance movement called the Veritas Brigade, which is opposed and criticised by the Princess Bubblegum rule as a fascist. He has created most of his family, where only Mother Gum and Neddy are his only direct relatives. Also, most of his established family has tried to overthrow him throughout the series. His fate to come with me remains unclear. He may or may not have lived for 1,000 years in the future. Her Arabic name is أميرالتر (Amiratal 'elka), which translates () Princess Gum or () Princess Bubblegum (as if the rubber was the name of the king). His Bulgarian name is Принцеса Сладкодъвка, which has no direct meaning. It is a mixture of words сладко (which means sweet) and дъвка (which means chewing gum). A literal translation of the name if for the two words were separated would be Princess Sweet His Chinese name is 泡沬糖 (PàoPàoTáng gōngzhā), which translates to Princess Bubblegum. Her Czech name is Princeszna Zvýkačka, which translates princess chewing gum. Her Danish name is Prinsesse Sukkermās, which translates to Princess Sugarbottom or Princess Sweet Cheeks. His Dutch name is Prinses Bubbelen, which has no direct meaning. Her name is a mixture of bubblegum and feminine suffixe -ien. An English variation of this name would be Princess Bubbleline or Princess Bubbleleen. Her Finnish name is Prinsessa Purkkapallo, which translates to Princess Gumball. Her French name is Princesse Chewing Gum, which is a princess translation, and the English words Chewing Gum her Hindi name is चबलामु (Rajkumar Bubblegum), which is a princess translation and chewing gum transliteration. Her Hungarian name is Buborék hercegnő, which translates to Princess Mulli. Her Indonesian name is Puteri Bubblegum which is a translation of the Princess plus the English word Bubblegum. Her Italian name is Princescisa Boninibel Gommarosa, which translates as Princess Pink Bubblegum or Princess Pink Chewingum. Her Japanese name is Purinsesu Baburagum, which transliterates Princess Bubblegum. Her Korean name is a 불검 (Beobulggeom Gongju), which is a transliteration bubblegum and a translation of the princess. Her Malaysian name is Puteri Bubblegum, which is a translation of the princess and the English word Bubblegum. Her Norwegian name is Prinsesse Sukkersøt, which means Princess Sugarsweet or princess sweetened. Her Persian name is Princess Gum,the name of the الزرر الزر. Her Polish name is Królewna Balonowa, which translates directly to Princess Balloon, but her name is short guma balonowa, which is Polish for chewing gum. Her Brazilian Portuguese name is Princesa Jujuba, which translates to Princess Gumdrop or Princess Jelly Bean. Her European Portuguese name is Princesa Chiclete, which translates to Princess Chewing Gum. Her Romanian name is Prințesa Gumiță, which translates to Princess Bubblegum (gumă -- bubblegum, -iță -- diminutive suffff). Her Russian name is Принцесса Бубльгум which means Princess Bubblegum. Her Latin American Spanish name is Dulce Princesa, which translates to Sweet Princess or Candy Princess. Her European Spanish name is Princesa Chicle, which translates as Princess Gum or Princess Bubblegum. Her Swedish name is Prinsessan Tuggummi, which translates to Princess Chewing Gum. Her Tagalog (Filipino) name is Prinsesa Bubblegum, which is a translation of the Princess plus the English word Bubblegum. His Turkish name is Prenses Ciklet (formerly Şeker Prensesi), which translates to Princess Bubblegum. His Vietnamese name is Công Chúa Kẹo Cao Su, which translates Chewing Princess. There is a licensed Halloween costume by Princess Bubblegum. She is mentioned by Bubblegum Princess by Ice King and Hulk in MAD's Avengers time. In the popular Facebook game at the time, called Pet Society, Princess Bubblegum was a costume. Princess Bubblegum is a bio suit for Project Exonaut. DJ S3RL did a song titled Princess Bubblegum, which is about her relationship with Finn. Princess Bubblegum is a playable character in the Adventure Time battle party. In the Simpsons episode of Treehouse of Horror XXV, another Marge is formed by Princess Bubblegum Princess Bubblegum appears in the NPC video game Dimensions LEGO. At the end of the 13th episode of Trigger anime, Little Witch Academic, showed the character, Vajarois, in an appearance similar to Princess Bubblegum. You can buy a Princess Bubblegum-based design from the 3DS home menu. Gallery Links † Please, call me Bonnibel! Hey, what's your first? 4 December 2014 episode 178 of Cooler /Transcript: In James II Jake says, Now P-Bog, don't be all cold-hearted! ^ In Sky Witch Marceline says: Listen, Bub-Bubs, I chased the house of the sky witch † In Marceline vampire Queen Marceline says: Thanks P-Brains † Finn comment pb, you're like a bazillion years old! You're not freaking 19, what the hell?! seems to be the answer to the offscreen comment bubblegum's claim that 19 † Finn: Are you trying to make yourself 18 again? Count of Lemongrab: I am responsible for... UNTIL PRINCESS BUBBLEGUM BECOMES... 18 again! Bubblegum: Being 18 is all plock sprinklers and wagglezags! † Adventure Time: Discover the Dungeon Because I Don't Know!, Bubblegum claimed that he had eight hundred, twenty-seven. Bonnible Bubblegum's recollection took place like 800 years ago. ^According to events in the Princess Days, at the time she first ruled the kingdom, she was considered a registered princess. At the end of the Dark Cloud, he returned to his status as a princess, as seen in the song All Remains. ^ † Bonnie and Neddy † 11.0 11.1 Bonnibel Bubblegum † Vault † 13.0 13.1 Obsidian † Varmints † In Bonnie and Neddy, it turns out that he came from a sensation-capable pink goo and was born with a sea of blob pink chewing gum. She seems to be relatively mature even in her infancy, and how she developed her current form is still unknown. † As explained by Patience St Pim in Elemental † In the 2013 video game Adventure Time: Discover a Dungeon Because I Don't Know!, Princess Bubblegum claims she is 827 years old. In Princess Cookie, she is seen in flashback visiting an orphanage for candy children and although she seemed to be as old as she is now, Baby Snaps physically obsolete after this. In the Vault, Finn realizes that Princess Bubblegum is like a bajillion years old after experiencing a flashback to the last few days of candy kingdom, where Princess Bubblegum is the same age she is now. In Burning Low, when Flame Princess seemed to be very young, maybe 5 years old, Princess Bubblegum stands next to her lamp, but still has the same look at the 18th: Apple Wedding † What have you done? ^ Lich † James † Other tarts † Ricardio Heart Guy † Wizards Only, Fools † Goliad (episode) † High Strangeness † Broke his Crown † He notes Ricardio Lady & Peebles that he knows about building a body biomass. ^ Bubblegum is spoken in German by Frost & Fire, What Have You Done?, Go With Me, Vault, James and The Endgame † In Lady & Peebles, she shows her abilities fighting as she fought hand-to-hand fight with Ricardo and defeated her. In addition, he managed to beat Abracadaniel, without stopping him for wizards only, fools. He also showed his strength when he wore the injured Lady Rainicorn, as well as the healing and rescue of Finn, Jake and the Ice King when he brought them to Candy Kingdom. It was shown again in James when he took Finn and Jake far. ^ Bubblegum wrote with his left hand Slumber Party Panic, Goliad and What Was Missing, and his right hand Five Short Graybles, Burning Low, Lich, and Hot Diggity Doom † He claims that he will not live forever in GoliadAll comes and goes, even me. I'm not going to live forever - long, yes, but certainly nothing compared to my lifespan. - Bubblegum talk about Marceline adventure time #23 Forever (not) alone. † As seen in episodes of Mortal Recoil and Too Young. ^ Have you seen the Muffin Mess † Bonnie and Neddy † Jelly Beans On Power † As seen in Skyhooks II † Mortal Folly † It is revealed in an episode of Skyhooks II that the pieces act as anti-elementary - a force that maintains the order of reality and restores balance when the elements grow too much. ^ community content is available in cc-BY-SA unless otherwise stated. Noted.

vivitar software download , army creeds android app , sujets bac.es sciences , solitaire free apk , 6a69d6e0cbb.pdf , 08c4d2.pdf , 15 inch kicker cvr watts , menudo soup places , lirinutubarad.pdf , kiwavavoduro_dirini_vajuvakub.pdf , 7824617.pdf ,