

Super English

Unit 8 - Lesson 2 Emotions

VOCABULARY

Emotions - Vocabulary

gland: an organ of the body that produces liquid chemicals (n)

The human body has over 50 different glands produce liquids.

Emotions - Vocabulary

duct: any tube or pipe that carries liquid or gas; a bodily tube carrying liquid from glands (n)

The tears in our eyes drain out through our tear ducts into our noses.

Emotions - Vocabulary

reflex: a sudden, automatic reaction to something without thinking about it (n)

When something comes toward your eye, your body will have the reflex called a blink.

Emotions - Vocabulary

shed: to allow tears or blood to flow (v)

Many soldiers shed blood during the war, and many families shed tears.

Let's Read!

Emotions - Reading

Why Do We Cry?

Our eyes are constantly producing tears. They make tears when we cry during a sad movie, while chopping onions, when we are hurt, and even sometimes when we are happy. Tears are produced by the lacrimal glands located just above the outer corner of each eye and are drained into tiny openings in the eyelids called ducts. Then they drain out through the nasolacrimal ducts into our nose and down the back of our throats.

Emotions - Reading

Why Do We Cry?

Crying is a big part of expressing human emotions. We cry when we are sad, happy, and for various other reasons. But do you know that we have different types of tears?

There are three types of tears: basal, reflex, and psycho-emotional tears. The basal tears are constantly being made and released to keep your eyes moist so they don't dry out. Normally, you don't notice the basal tear doing its thing, but they are on duty all the time.

Emotions - Reading

Why Do We Cry?

Next, come the reflex tears that wash away harmful particles and substances. The tears are released in much larger quantities. It's the reflex tears you shed when your mom cuts an onion.

Last comes the emotional tears that are released when you have intense feelings like joy, sadness, and when you get hurt. These tears help your mood by containing stress hormones and a natural pain killer that helps you feel better.

Either/Neither of

We use either when talking about two choices, or in negative sentences when talking about two things..

We use either of when using a determiner (e.g. those, the, her, his) + plural noun

I can eat either pizza or a hamburger.

You can have either of the sandwiches.

phonics

Consonant-le

A consonant-le syllable is a final syllable with one consonant followed by l and silent e. It always occurs at the end of the word.

fle

ri-fle sti-fle baf-fle raf-fle snif-fle shuf-fle

gle

ea-gle bu-gle jun-gle gig-gle gur-gle
jin-gle

Super English

See you Next time!

