THE 4-WEEK
SONGWRITING CHALLENGE

INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the 4-week Songwriting Challenge!

I originally created this songwriting challenge as a way for myself to explore different methods of writing songs, and to keep myself from falling into the same songwriting patterns over and over again.

But then I figured, why not bring some of you guys along with me?

Each week of the challenge is a different method of starting a song. Because I’ve found that isolating different areas of the song (like melody or lyrics) can help spark new ideas and challenge you to think about songwriting differently.

Though you’re welcome to work through each challenge at your own pace, I’d recommend spending at least a week on each challenge to give yourself plenty of time to try out the different strategies.

Good luck!
