Minecraft creepypasta mod

This mod turns your Minecraft game into a horror movie, it puts all your nightmares right in front of you. This particular mod takes horror to a whole new level while keeping the world dark, very dark. This mod takes stories told by fires, myths, urban legends and terrifying emails and puts them in your gameplay. Yes right. The serial killer you were told about in the camp, the one you thought was just a story that scared you. Well, now you have to run away from what you once thought was fiction. Fortunately, this mod gives you a diaper, so you don't create a puddle. As this mod works to begin with, you have to create a computer out of the usual Minecraft elements and do so you will need 6 iron bars, 2 Red Stone and 1 diamond. Place the diamond in the center with the red stone on each side, then place 3 iron bars on top and bottom and shafts, you have created a laptop. Now, in order to give birth to a serial killer or some other creature, you have to put a piece of paper in your laptop. Once you've done that, he'll print out the random killer. Place this printed paper in your hand and press the right button, then be prepared to either die, fight or run. Changing the gameplay Of Creepypasta Mod makes the gameplay much more fun, say you're tired of regular mobs. They don't scare you anymore. This mod brings this fear back into play with creatures such as the minecraft version of 'Slenderman', Smile Dog and quite a few others. Slenderman, if you've never heard of it, is a tall faceless man with a suit that basically stops at nothing to kill you. Smile Dog looks cute at first, but don't look at him or he will attack you, his name came from the email that started it; photo of a dog with a human face, smiling. Other changes this mod provides-Unusually dark items such as Dark Dirt-Sun Never Gets Up, amplifying the horror experience- Creatures that are harder to kill than regular mobsBring your fears to life. Well, give this fashion a try. Try, give birth to all possible creatures, you will not get bored. Rules of the General Rules Be kind and treat everyone with respect. Keep in mind that everyone has feelings, no matter who they are. Intimidation, harassment, threats and discrimination of any kind against anyone; whether they are a troll or a vandal, this is strictly prohibited. This wiki has no place for this type of behavior, and will result in your blocking. Remember that what you say and do to someone can affect how they feel. Think about how you would like them to treat you. Creepypastas is completely fictional. These are stories designed to scare and provide entertainment for the reader. You have the right to believe in creepypastas and express your opinion freely, but please do not try to convince other users that the pastas are real or happened in real life. Remember that the pastas you read were created by many creative writers just like you! Please refrain from participating in cross-wiki dramas. Issues related to other communities, including bans, wiki changes, or conflicts, should be addressed on the relevant wiki. Encouraging arbitrariness or harm towards others will result in a permanent block and is subject to further consequences with Fandom. This includes telling users to kill themselves or threatening to harm others. In addition, all mentions of self harm or suicidal thoughts are prohibited and will result in a block. If you have suicidal thoughts, wikis are not the place to get help. Instead, seek professional help. Be yourself! Do not pretend to be known users, public enemies, banned users or those who link or participate in this wiki. Impersonation is when a user impersonates another user by copying another user's content (such as their username, masthead information, or their public information) to make others believe they are the same person. This will result in your account being blocked. Remember that being the personification of online is not fun! Remember what you said! The oath is fine as long as it is not directed at anyone. Homophobic, capable, sexist and racist slurs are forms of hate and should not be used anywhere on this wiki. We want everyone to feel safe, happy and comfortable where they edit, and using obscene language is never a way to communicate with other people. Spam and vandalism are not allowed. This includes spam in a wiki chat. Don't gibberish or false information in the article. You also don't have to edit user-generated content without its permission, regardless of whether the user is a troll or vandal. User content can only be edited without permission (by administrator or mod) if currently for example, a public enemy pattern, an employee list template, or a blocked template. A clean and organized wiki is always better! Keep this wiki 18 free zone. While some pastas may be NSFW, we do not tolerate any explicit or illegal materials here. This includes pornography, the use of harmful drugs, corrupt files, malware, promotion of crimes, etc. Remember that there are many young viewers who are browsing this wiki! Don't plagiarize. This includes taking rips of creepypastas (either through title, plot and/or cliché) that makes a duplicate of a wiki on the same topic as this one and/or editing, animation or stealing content from that wiki without the author's permission. If you want to know what content is a cliché, then click here to find out more. Remember that users work very hard for their content, and copying their work and claiming that it's not cool! Please don't minimize. This is when a user who is not part of a team of employees tries to control situations that they are not required to handle. Leave it to our team of staff to deal with. Be careful who you interact with and what you share online. Unfortunately, we are not responsible for any damage or loss to anyone on this wiki. You are fully responsible for all the information you share about yourself on this wiki. The Internet is a very dangerous place. Going outside the topic/necropost to the discussion is not allowed. If you want to have a discussion off topic, you can create a new thread on the shitposting/random crap board on the forums. Do not single out any off-topic or irrelevant discs. (Such as games, challenges, memes, etc.) The topics that need to be highlighted are Wiki changes and admin messages. Please do not comment on a post that is over 30 days old. If you still have a problem after reading the old post, just make a new one. Don't want any notifications from threads that were made a long time ago getting banned don't completely shield you from disruption. If you have broken the rules in the past, it can be used against you in the future. Expect an extended ban length for every next violation you commit. Any member who has been demoted by their moderation rank who tries to evade demotion by promoting an alternative or sock puppet account before being demoted, and then using an account to continue moderation will result in the account getting demoted and all accounts that belong to the user will be banned. Don't use serious insults like n-word or gay slur. If you have strong opinions regarding these groups of people, please keep them to yourself. And finally - if you get punished for breaking any rules, accept the punishment. If you believe that there has been an error or would like your ban to be reduced/removed, you will contact the administrator on the message wall in the central community. Staff Guidelines Staff not only follow all the rules, they must show how to follow the rules. Staff should set an example to others on how to behave and how to maintain a wiki balance. Any violation is likely to result in demotion. You must not commit rank abuse; either breaking the rules, or generally abusing his power. Etc. Inaction is an important part of staff selection. Employees who have been inactive for long periods of time may be demoted and/or harassed. Punishments must be calculated responsibly. Do not punish people for invalid reasons, and give an adequate duration of prohibition. Asking for a promotion is frowned upon in most cases. Promotions usually come on time when users have contributed to wikis and have proven to be useful for wikis in one form or another. If you want to get a raise, you have to work to earn it. Employees must communicate respectfully with other users, even if the user has violated a rule or two. Assessment of situations must be done with respect, attention and tolerance. Supplement to Rule 1: If an employee is caught harassing or abusing a user - even if that user has violated the rule - he will be subject to possible instant demotion or even temporary bans. Commenting on politics Let your voice be heard! Feedback and opinions on all pastas are very much appreciated. Be respectful, be honest, and don't say anything rude. Don't edit other people's comments if it's something other than a grammar fix. Please continue to edit your own comments. Make sure the comment is compliant. don't flame or chase anyone. Pasta is not discussed. Discussions for forums or chat only. Repeated comments on one page, even if it's not spam, are frowned upon. Writing Criteria If your page was removed, it was because it violated the wiki editing policy. Removal occurs mainly because it contained spam, hate, or was an irrelevant article. If your article has been deleted, you can talk to the person who deleted it on the message wall, asking them to reinstate it. Don't make pasta, this one sentence is long. It is considered to be making spam paste and will also be subject to removal. Your stories can be long or short if they don't just offer long. Good grammar means readable pastas. Pasta with poor grammar will leave the reader confused and may be subject to removal. Keep the pasta neat! Make sure your chapters are only on one page, not on many different pages every chapter. A whole pile of pasta doesn't fit on one page. This will leave the reader confused. Make a page for each pasta. Creating multiple pieces to history is allowed. Wiki Updates New Letter Rules Were Implemented After Petition to Stories have seen most users vote yes on term 1 (All stories posted here no longer have to be just creepypastas. other genres will be allowed.) and 3. (Future stories posted here should mostly be in Minecraft.). In fact, from now on all future stories posted here can be written in genres that are not just creepy. However, since the wiki has Minecraft in its name, you should expect users to have their stories happen in Minecraft. 5/19/20 By Shrautsticks WhoWatchesTheToasters and several other users have arranged a suggestion for some changes to the wikis that are explained here. Some of the changes were implemented and some were withdrawn. There has been a massive demotion of the inactive/low level of staff faith. Thank you for your help, Toaster! 10/13/19 By Enderman Wikia Cleaning MCCW Month News and MCCW Rewind are new developments on the block. MCCW Monthly News News Group Hosting Henri05, this event focuses on recent changes, events and more. The event takes place every end of the month. Wiki Cleanup Event organized by Enderman, We compile all the basic ideas and we will list them on the forum post and we try to fix them. This event takes place every few months. (CLOSED) MCCW Rewind AHAAAAH, YUP. THAT'S HOT This special event is held every December. This event will be dedicated to everything that happened this year. This event can be organized by any employee. 9/1/2018 By Bella1963 I understand who would be angry if their stories were deleted, but there are several reasons why your work may have been deemed unsatisfactory by our staff. 1. The grammar of your story was too awful. If you're just too lazy to edit your hard work, then at least run the story through software like Grammarly so people can actually read it. 2. Although this wiki is a writing platform anyone with an account can contribute, we have quality standards. The story can't be too cliché, don't have a plot, too short and/or spam pages. 3. If you haven't finished with your pasta yet, please place the WIP template at the very top of your pasta so that wiki employees won't delete it by mistake. If you still find removal unfair, contact one of our employees. But please, if your pasta matches any of the categories above, just think about the new story. You can also ask other wiki users to write tips if you need help. 8/17/2018 by Finalcutter55 Vicky undergoes various changes. See them here.
