The song was successful despite the album's independent release, and was covered by several famous artists of the Christian music industry (David Crowder Band, Kim Walker, Todd Agnew, New Breed, Flyleaf, The Glorious Unseen) and Anthony Evans from the popular singing TV show, The Voice. It was also covered in Spanish by Christine D'Clario and Seth Condrle. Von McMillan wrote How He Loves After the Death of His Best Friend. Stephen Coffey, Coffey was a youth minister in MorningStar ministries. On November 1, 2002, during a church prayer meeting, Coffey prayed aloud, I would give my life today if it shocked the youth of the nation. That same night he was in a crash involving several cars and died of serious injuries. Meanwhile, Macmillan was recording in a studio in Jacksonville, Florida, when he received a call that two of his friends had been seriously injured in a car accident. Later that evening, he received another call from his father, who informed McMillan that Coffey had died. The next day, McMillan wrote How He Loves as a tribute to Coffey and out of the need to have some kind of conversation with God where he could speak with his frustrations and emotions about the death of his best friend. According to Macmillan, the love he sings about in How He Loves is not very beautiful, Hollywood hot pink love. It is a kind of love that is ready to love, even when everything is difficult and dirty. He says: This song is not a celebration of weakness and anger. It is a celebration of God who would like to hang with us through those things that would like to be a part of our lives through these things, and despite who we are, He would like to be a part of us, our community, and our family.
