Once there, they meet a frustrated songwriter, David Sevilla, and despite the poor first impression of destroying the house, they impress him with their singing talent. Seeing an opportunity for success, both human and chipmunks make a pact for them to sing his songs. While this ambition proves frustrating to deal with the difficult trio, the dream really came true after all. Still, this success presents its own challenges as their unscrupulous record executive, Ian Hawke, plans to break up this family to exploit the boys. Can Dave and the Chipmunks discover what they really appreciate amid the superficial glamour around them?
