

Royce Newcomb
Chief Designer

Royce Newcomb is the primary Inventor and Chief Designer of Strategic Innovations. His creative skills and ability have allowed him to achieve his life's dream by unearthing his gifts and talents and utilizing them to serve people in powerful ways. With a focus on identifying "black hole" problems and creating quantum leap solutions that serve the masses, it's apparent this man's on a mission.

Having been born and raised in Oregon as 1 of 6 boys, life was tough. In this environment, in order to maximize your potential and surmount life's unexpected obstacles, you had to learn to be more adept than the rest. As someone who has overcome life's challenges, Royce has been able to use the lessons that he's learned along the way to reinvent himself and, in doing so, accomplishes what oftentimes seems like the impossible in order to rise to the top.

With a wide range of business and life experiences, Royce is a shining example of a modern day Renaissance man. He applies his passion and enthusiasm for life into his work on a daily basis. This allows him to bring to fruition the solutions that he hopes will be relevant and ground-breaking for generations to come.

As a former Marine, Royce learned early on that if he set his mind upon a desired end result he most oftentimes could achieve it, and that was evident by his meritorious promotion not only from Boot Camp, but also right after from Infantry Training School, earning him the rank of a Lance Corporal within his first 6 months as a U.S. Marine. These experiences have served him well considering he's been self-employed since being 21 and shortly after exiting the service.

With many different skill sets and types of businesses built over the years, the future's looking very bright for someone who doesn't quit when the going gets tough.
