Sonali Chowdhary. Raghavendra Nayaka. Gauri Prasad Aayesha Sood. Ritu Khanna. Plot In present day Karnataka, Vishwas Chakravarthy (Raghavendra Nayaka) lives with his three daughters, Suhasini (Sonali Chowdhary), Sheela (Gauri Prasad Aayesha Sood), and Mangala (Ritu Khanna). On the death of his wife, Vishwas is left with the responsibility of raising three girls. Suhasini, the eldest, is a patient and strong-minded girl, while Mangala is a fiery, lively girl. Sheela is quite rebellious, and sometimes she worries her father about what she might do next. Suhasini falls in love with her neighbour, Ajay (Paran Bandopadhyay), and he also loves her. Suhasini's father, Vishwas is on his deathbed. Ajay has a sister Suhasini's age, Sangeeta (Ananya Chatterjee). Ajay also has a mother, Nandini (Rohini Hattangadi), who is a school teacher. Sangeeta is married to a wealthy merchant named Ranjan (Anupam Kher). Ranjan has been drinking heavily and is only interested in wealth. However, he respects his wife and gives her money for household expenditure. Nandini often hears Ajay's father say "Shakalata Maatho" (Mother will take care of everything). The movie shows Nandini having a good health and wise demeanor. Sangeeta is also obedient. This is because Nandini does not want to burden Ranjan, as he has enough money and can take care of Sangeeta if she has any health problems. Nandini comes to know that the fathers are planning to kill her husband as she overheard them. She realizes her husband is an alcoholic and is on the road to die. She also comes to know that her son and daughter-in-law are having an illicit affair. Nandini confronts them. Sangeeta, who has now realized the truth, tries to talk to Ajay. Ajay then asks Nandini to decide which one is best. Suhasini, who is in love with Ajay, also has an affair with him. Nandini asks Suhasini if she has told her husband about the affair. Suhasini says no. Nand 520fdb1ae7
