

Partition ÷ Machine

Legacies of Territoriality in a Violent World

Edited by

Jayita Sarkar University of Glasgow) &

Georgios Giannakopoulos (City, St George's University of London)

Based on 2023 British Academy Conference in Glasgow, BAC23\220114

For Proceedings of the British Academy

April 2026

Contents

Abbreviations

Maps & Illustrations

Co-Editors' Note & Acknowledgements

Introduction: Machines, Men, and Masses

Jayita Sarkar, University of Glasgow

PART I: Dreams

1. What does the history of partition tell us about the modern liberal international order and disorder?
Glenda Sluga, European University Institute
2. The Unpartitioned
Charles S. Maier, Harvard University

PART II: Deeds

3. Greece and the Partition of the Ottoman Empire
Georgios Giannakopoulos, City, St George's University of London
4. Whither Assyria: The Mosul Dispute 1914-1933
Sargon Donabed, Roger Williams University
5. Partition to Control: German Southwest Africa and the 'Ovambogefahr'
Saima Nakuti Ashipala, University of Namibia
6. British Policy and Lord Curzon's Opposition towards Iranian Nationalism at the Peace of Paris, 1919
Philip Grobier
7. The Partition of Ireland and the Lausanne Treaty compared: Imperial containment in an Era of Self-Determination
Connor Mulvagh, University College Dublin
8. Another Ulster!: Ireland, Palestine, and the Transnational Logic of Imperial Violence
Darragh Gannon, Georgetown University
& Arie Dubnov, George Washington University
9. The Frontiers of French India: Border making and imperial politics
Akhila Yechury, University of St Andrews
10. The Politics of Geography in the Partition of Punjab
Hannah Fitzpatrick, University of Edinburgh

Afterword: Partitions, Empires, and Nation-States

Fredrick Cooper, New York University

Bibliography