Plant regeneration from Arabidopsis cell suspensions and from excised leaf explants. This study aimed to investigate the regeneration of plant tissues from callus tissues induced in suspension culture and from isolated leaf explants of Arabidopsis thaliana. Plantlet regeneration was achieved from cell suspension cultures derived from calli induced on 2,4-D-containing medium. Calli were induced on medium supplemented with 10 mg/l 6-benzylaminopurine (BAP), 2 mg/l kinetin (KIN) and 5% sucrose, followed by a medium without growth regulator. Shoot cultures developed from cell suspension cultures as well as from leaf explants regenerated plants with a high frequency of 75% and 63%, respectively.
