So relaxing and super informative instruction. Loving my new hobby! Taking my mind out of all the yuck swirling around in my life! Was it helpful? I love handwriting and have always wanted to learn this type of script. This guide with pens and tracking paper is great. Step by step learning and it's fun! Definitely recommend. Good quality supplies too. This is my new hobby after I got tired of coloring books. Was it helpful? I love this book. It's the perfect progression for a moderate-level letterer! It's also so soothing and good for mindfulness. So great to support a small business, too! Was it helpful? Enjoying this workbook so far! I like the layout. It's easy to keep up, very meditative. Be sure to grab the tracking paper!!! Was it helpful? eBay item number: 303751958785 Seller assumes all responsibility for this list. Stand: Good: A book that has been read but is in good condition. Read more about the Subject: Mind When I started letters, I was so overwhelmed by the amount of resources out there. I bought a ridiculous amount of books and picked up a ton of practice sheets to get me started on this trip. There were some that I loved and some that I reference less than others. And so, a year into my journey, I want to share with you my absolute favorites! So Check Them Out: 1st Guide to Mindful Lettering | 2. Handbook sticks 201 | 3. Modern calligraphy4. Handbook Sticks Guide Spreadsheets | 5. Intermediate range 1. Guide to Mindful Lettering - Lisa Funk This was the very first book I picked up and loved it! This book really helped me develop my style without scaring me. You can also customize the book so that the spine should be left or right, making it so easy to write on and layer tracking paper over. I also loved practice phrases that bounced letters, and helped you figure out the composition! 2. Hand Lettering 201: Intermediate Lettering and Design Basics – Chalkfulloflove I loved this book for expanding my lettering styles. There are so many different styles in this book and I loved playing with them. My letters definitely lean feminine and I just loved trapped in the book. If I looking to get a few new styles under you belt, I highly recommend checking out this book! 3. Modern Calligraphy: A Beginner's Guide to Tip Pen and Brush Pen Lettering – Leslie Tieu I still refer to this book on a daily basis... that's how amazing it is! What I love about this one is the variety of styles. On the back of the book, Leslie shows you more than 10+ variations for each letter (capital and lower case). I also love that this book is spiral bound and is easy to practice on and use with tracing sheets if you are just starting out. 4. Hand Lettering Guide – TinyCactusDesign I love Lindsay's letters style and these were awesome to practice with. She has both lowercase and capital letters practice sheets, fauxlligraphy, serifs and sans serifs, and even teaches you about watercolor (which she's awesome at). She also provides separate .png files for easy use with iPad. These spreadsheets are awesome and I highly recommend them! 5. The Intermediate Masterclass - Amanda Arneill About three months into my letter journey I started to feel a little outdated. I was past the beginner stage, but didn't progress past my comfort zone. On a whim, I signed up for this course and it's hands down the reason why I've evolved as much as I did in just one year. Amanda is a phenomenal teacher and explains everything in as much detail as possible. What I loved about this course was live facebook sessions where she criticized every homework assignment individually and explained how to do better. If you want to drive your skills and get out of your comfort zone, sign up for this course! There is currently a waiting list for the spring class. I hope this was helpful! If you have any questions, let me know. Happy to answer and help in any way I can! It's amazing!
