Pond air pump lowes

Yes... I just used the cheap lowes timers too... $10 dollars I think ... 2 Likes, sounds good. Will update a little later this afternoon with the pump, I'm more than likely going to turn this into a growth diary for my first sour diesel DWC. So I'll update until I get my weight dried from the crop. Stay tuned to people! 2 Likes Where I'm going to find this pump at Lowe's @peachfuzz It turns into a good DIY thread. Does it look @peachfuzz!!! The top I use to pump air into the system and the second I recirculate the system with VIVOSUN Air Pump 950 GPH 32W 60L/min 6 Outlet Commercial Air Pump for aquarium and hydroponic systems (32 W) amazon.com KEDSUM 550GPH Submersible Pump (2500L/H,40W), ultra-silent water pump with 5-foot-tall elevator, fountain pump with 4.2-foot power cord, 2 nozzles for fish tank, Pond, Aquarium, Statuary, Hydroponics amazon.com 2 Loves I just bought this blue air pump above the 550gph it will be here in three days. 2 Likes should receive something in the mail every day this week, so things should be hyping in my culture room. By the end of this week, my sour diesel clone should already sprout some healthy roots. Getting two air-cooled hoods weeded from the excess heat that was sticking out of my open hood lights. Will receive my water pump for my control bucket as well as ph high and low and ph tester. Absolutely cannot wait for all of this to be operational, pending a massive return. I have my pump and it pulled water from the top of my bucket of plants, I guess you're not aiming for nossel water outlet in the pvc pipe. I just sat it in there so it swirls a little water in my control bucket around completely, I have it on its own timer coming on 30 minutes every 5 hours. What's next? 1 As 2 Likes 3 Likes to go very well with my first DWC, this clone is growing so fast! Can't wait until it gets to the scrog net. @peachfuzz @Sittingbull64 @Sasquatch @MBgrower @anon95385719 @FloridaSon 4 Likes Oh yes they grow super fast! That one looks good and @Whyteboy1994 1 Like Thanks for the tag @Whyteboy1994, How old is this clone, its roots seem very strong. I grow in the soil so as not to see the roots until harvest. I've always wanted to see what goes in growing hydropower, it's amazing that a plant can grow and grow successfully without soil. Please continue to mark me, I will definitely follow your growth !!! Thank you MB @MBgrower jumped it from the mother plant 5-12. Growing up like a champion like his mom! 2 Likes @Whyteboy1994 very impressive, I'll your grow -- thanks again for the label, I know I'll learn so much from you !!! MB: 1 Like 7 Likes @Whyteboy1994 Thanks for the tag !!! It's unbelievable!!! I've never seen any plant grow without soil, I've been gardening for many years, They're so cute, I couldn't tell how small they are small were until I saw the picture of you holding one - they are the cutest little girl I've ever seen, Great Job thanks a lot for not forgetting to label me, I know I'll learn so much from your diary Keep it up MB:seedling; 1 Like Hey @Whyteboy1994 I dig it. I haven't grown Hydro yet, but I intend to when I start growing again. I've put it all together. But hydropower is great. 1 As -- previous page next page -- Good News!!!
