Pathway to Sustainability

Transport Resource Sheet.

For New Zealand to transition successfully to a low carbon future, we all need to avoid and reduce greenhouse gas emissions, not just offset them. By thinking about your transport options, you can drastically reduce the amount of emissions your business creates.

This resource will help you to measure and assess your current transport use and create a travel plan for your business. It also provides information around some alternative sustainable transport options.

What are the benefits of creating a travel plan for my business?

A travel plan can help you and your staff reduce travel and parking pressure, as well as reducing emissions from single-occupancy car use by using initiatives such as:

- Getting involved in car pool and ride sharing schemes
- Making improvements to your business' cycling or walking facilities
- Promoting flexible working arrangements for your staff including remote access and video conferencing
- Promoting public transport use within your staff and clients.

How do I develop a travel plan/sustainable transport policy for my business?

It takes a little planning to make transport for your business more sustainable. Check out SBN's transport plan below for some ideas.

AIM:	To develop, implement and review a programme which encourages sustainable transport options for both staff and business travel.
ACTION:	Ensure office has some kind of facility that enables sustainable transport options for staff and visitors (e.g. is located close to public transport/has
