

Find Your Ditto™

Lead Software Developer

Find Your Ditto is an early-stage digital health startup seeking a qualified Lead Software Developer to assist in developing upon the company's peer-support mobile platform.

About Find Your Ditto™

Over one-half of all adults in the US live with a chronic illness. Often called “invisible” illnesses, feelings of loneliness and isolation are often pervasive among these communities as individuals do not feel interpersonally connected. Find Your Ditto is the first mobile platform to connect individuals living with the same chronic illness locally for on-demand, in-person peer support.

Responsibilities

- Support complete software development lifecycle for our suite of healthcare-facing applications
 - Architect, develop, test, deploy, release and maintain native application, including servers, databases, and security
- Innovate new features with product development team
- Stay up-to-date with new technology trends
- Leverage creative freedom to augment company development
- Work upon designs given by UX team

Requirements

- Experience with native and/or mobile applications
- Self-starter personality
- Understanding of HIPAA compliance is a plus

Location

- Remote; office space available for work in Ann Arbor, MI

Compensation

- Equity and salary mix, commensurate with experience

Interested?

Please email resume/portfolio to parisa@findyourditto.com