Luti, Luti! Helps quickly find items by their statistics or name in large caches of the Path of Exile. Looty puts all your sweet Path of Exile robbing in search of datagrid. What the hell do you want to do? I'll tell you why when you have 20 stams full of all the garbage that washes up on the god-forgotten shores of Wraecclast you need an interface to wade through all that garbage. If you yourself find alta-holic with too many stash tabs and too little time to organize all your junk that's what you do. Can't remember which viola has your multipurpose gemstone? It's easy to just type multistrakh in the name field. PROBLEM - SOLVED. This viola you did months ago NoPantsAllStaff seems to have, hmm you can find another one. Going to try to summoner, and I'm sure you want to have 2 minion health helmets you've probably plundered. Of course, it's a pity I couldn't remember where I left it. Oh well, I just play my onion ranger today. Bow Ranger? Think of yourself as a man. Looty here to help, just scroll allright way to the gMinion column and click to sort on it. Party on. Which of my 50 spectral throw gems has my sweet seraphim microtransaction effect? I can't start this avatar fire spectral throw (yes?) Alt looking like a common weaksauce newb. Enter the seraph in the cosmetic column and BOOM, there it is buried in the inventory of WhinyScion that viola you made and fell when the brutal brutal imperial gardens were no longer your poorly planned construction. This time though, it will work completely. Aligning that claw reaver, just hit level 25 and feel like it's time to find an upgrade to a sweet fist somewhere in your stash? Easily just type the claw into the field type and '25 in the rLvl box then click on the dps a couple of times to sort on it. BOOM A 100 DPS claw you ransacked years ago, / gg the next 5 levels. KWICKSILVERS! WHICH ONE OF YOU HAS MY PERPETUAL AMPHETAMINES!! NO ONE HAS TIME TO WALK! Hold on to the butts because he hides on the bowlegs that ranger you did when you thought it was a good idea to play ice shot rangers. You were such a newbie back then. But at least you found your quicksilvers because you quickly typed in the name box. What else can Luti do? Steal all your account information? No, he doesn't, don't you believe me? Well then check the source on the github on and watch it do in your check items tab. Try these recommended Stash Tab currency controls on the way of banishing an important aspect of effective grinding in the Path of Exile is to have your tabs stash created in such a way that you spend as little time as possible. This article will cover eight types of recommended installation to stash the tab management on the path of expulsion. 1. Dump Tab - The first 4 regular tabs or one quad tab to use as a time tab reset between card launches. After cleaning the card you just CTRL+click all the loot in these tabs and get back to the next card as soon as possible. You can sort all the prey more efficiently once these tabs are full, or once you're roughly done with the current playback session. You can use the Select Elements feature at the bottom of the tab to address one type of item at a time. 2. Currency Tab - I played a character on a free play alt account at 100, and let me tell you; The currency tab is the most pay2win thing in the whole game. I recommend having this tab right after the tab dump (s). And if you haven't bought it yet, I recommend it as the most worthwhile investment you can make on a PoE account. This saves a huge amount of time that you would otherwise spend converting currency to make room. 3. Essence Tab and Divination Tab Cards - It's optional, and not as good as the currency tab, but I have them and I love them. If you don't have them, you can put your fortune-telling cards and entities in regular tabs, or just don't pick up low/medium cost essences and cards in the first place. 4. RUN tab - a tab full of cards that are rolled and ready to be launched by your character. So you can just CTRL click a bunch of them and start running the card. In the Legacy League I used this mainly to organize several sets of 3 leaguestones that I would run instead of cards. 5. Individual Sale Prices Tab (s) - One they may be enough. You might want to use a quad tab or a few tabs. You have to see for yourself. Anything you can sell for more than 5c goes here. 6. 5c tabs for mass burial of small objects - Instead of taking time to look at every rare ring, amulet amulet Jewel you can just identify them and throw them in the tab for 5c. 7. Unrolled Map Tab (s) - It's up to you how you want to organize these, but I put them near the end, since you only have to interact with them at the end of your play session, while sorting all your prey. The Pay2win card stash tab that was introduced at 3.1 is great for this. If you buy it, you will most likely fit all the cards you need in this tab and they will be automatically organized by level and type. Keep in mind that this is just one possible way to set up hoardings to stash. You may have a method that works best for you, but I want you to at least think about how much time you spend scrolling tabs and sorting your loot. If you are completely free to play, and only have 4 non-premium stash tabs, you'll have to combine some of these tabs and use Acquisition to list your items for sale. It won't be as effective, but it's possible to make it work. You can also save a little time by moving Stash and Navali or zana close to the device map in your hideout, so you don't have to walk far to stash your belongings after each card. I prefer to have these things close to the point of the way, but not too close, since people can accidentally click on your portals when they come to your hideout for bidding. You can buy the cheap currency POE at the 5mmo.com where you can enjoy the cheapest price online using the code 5MMO for a 3% discount. Update: 10-07-2014 Now you can log in with an ID session featuring @crub-poe I made this little auto stash-tab sorter that I hope some of you will find useful. How It Works It Works by downloading the item-position selected cache tab from the API website (same as the purchase), and when you choose which cache tab to sort, and how to sort it, it takes over the mouse, and sort your items by clicking and dragging them around until your stash is fully sorted. There are no injections or anything, and this program does nothing that AutoHotKey does and purchases does not (which are both allowed GGG) instructions: Open POEStashSorter.exe located in a bin folder with administrator rights and input. Make the exile path work in window or window full-screen mode. Go to town and open a cache tab you want to sort. Open the program, and select the league and stash, and how you want to sort your items. Tap Start sorting, and don't touch the mouse until it's over. For more instructions Click F3 to search through tabs Press F5 to update your chosen tab (if it doesn't work, try to enter a new city instance on the way of exile to push changes to the server) Screenshots Sort jewelrySort mapsSort Stones #1Sort Gems #2 Requirements: Windows 64bit (haven't tested it with 32bit, but I'm sure it doesn't work, try and let me know)Microsoft .NET Framework 4.5 Download Link Source Update if you want to save saved settings, such as login information and such... Simply replce config bin with your old. It is located in the main / root folder. Why is the file so big? (about 20mb and 54mb unzipped) In order to make a stash sorter modified with C. I have to compose code c' live while the program works. This requires a lot of .dll links. And I want to make sure he has everything he needs... Thanks, this has been corrected and the link to the download has been updated. , friend, nice tool, it helps a lot. We know it's still on the first versions and has some little problems, but I'm sure you can improve it so I've been using and testing this tool and I've noticed that it treats the Nova Blue Ice skill as green when you've chosen to sort gems by color, moving that skill green band. Also, sometimes it clicks and tries to move empty slots. He sees the skill of the portal as red. Fast speed (50%) slower than usual (100%) o0 I would suggest you make a tool to keep email/go after the first use so we don't have to type everything again. Also, could you make it sort of currency? Some people like to stack and sort them. Maybe for accessories as well (rings/amulets) how to sort by level, for example. Bulb? Please add an option for the key press to stop the tool if necessary. I will continue to try it and let you know if there is any other issue or suggestion. Thank you in advance. The latter is edited by fabcard; 03-05-2014 at 07:35. Please update for the new leagues I love this program Originally published Fabcard Hello there friend, Nice tool, it helps a lot. If you ever experience that it tries to move items where there are none. That's right, because you've moved some items around in a cache lately, and the changes haven't been pushed back to the path of banishing the website yet (where I get a point-position). As you can make sure that the website is aware of your new item locations, is to re-enter the city, or just go to another. (hopefully it makes sense) I've added an exception for Ice Nova now, so he has to register it as a blue stone now. But it's actually more green than blue (if you ask my image color recognition algorithm) ^^ speed is fixed as well, I've been multiplying it the other way around... Ups. Originally published lexm1 Please update for the new leagues I love this program two new leagues have been added to sort the currency, amulets and rings you can use to sort by image option. but it's not so nice, I could include a good currency sorter in the future I promise to add the option to memorize the password and email in the next update, lazy right now last edited bjarkeck; 03-06-2014 at 14:25 poe organize stash tabs. organize your stash poe
