

"A step-by-step approach towards a more sustainable university college"

HoGent has chosen the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals as its research agenda. By incorporating this framework, they hope to encourage staff and students to reflect on and contribute to solutions for the world's wicked problems. You will learn about their pathway, barriers overcome and lessons learned. The future of this ongoing trajectory will also be discussed.

Expect an interactive workshop in which you'll get the opportunity to connect your own project to the SDG's and discover priorities you need to set with a view to more sustainability.

WICKED PROBLEMS TACKLED

VEERLE LAMOTE
SENIOR STAF MEMBER
HOGENT
BELGIUM

She is Senior staff member at Office Research Affairs at HOGENT. The research department aims to conduct research closely connected to its teaching, addresses societal challenges, favours interdisciplinary collaboration and strives for maximal impact. Collaboration with Jean Hugé about sustainability in global, Anne Snick about sustainability in RRI, and Peter Wollaert about SDG's have helped shape these ambitions.

Brings along Els Stuyven and Mandy Ghyselinck

