Since that time several rotations of Field Historics have continued to cover operations Joint Endeavor and Joint Guard and Joint Forge. Patches worn by personnel at headquarters, the U.S. Army, Europe and by CMH personnel deployed in Operation JOINT ENDEAVOR. Army historians are very busy today, providing historical coverage of Operation JOINT ENDEAVOR. The primary mission of these historians is to ensure that the records of the operation are preserved for use in writing the official history of the operation. Important tasks for the implemented field historians are to collect important operational documents, maps, photos, video and audio recordings, artifacts, and other historical materials that might otherwise not be preserved. Army officers, non-service officers, and soldiers are interviewed to help understand topics not covered in regular reports and documents. This article explains how army historians in Europe are about the role of the army in Operation JOINT ENDEAVOR. In early December 1995, the Commander of the U.S. Army, Europe (USAREUR), asked the U.S. Army Center of Military (CMH) to assist in the historic coverage of Operation JOINT ENDEAVOR by providing an Army Component Command Historian for the theater of operations. Initially, CMH sent its chief of the Military Studies Branch, Major Mark Gillespie, who previously led the team that produced the former Ministry of Defense Yugoslavia handbook, to the theater of operations to begin the historic collection effort while a permanent Army Component Command Historian was sought. MAJ Gillespie arrived at the theater on Christmas Eve and shortly thereafter set out to cover the 1st Armored Division's historic crossing of the Sava River in Croatia. As soon as his replacement arrived at the end of February, MAJ Gillespie returned to CMH. The army historians handling Operation JOINT ENDEAVOR today are led by Lieutenant Colonel Walter Kretchik, who replaced Major Gillespie. He is an Army Component Command historian and is based at the headquarters, U.S. Army Europe (Forward) based at Taszar Air Base in Hungary. LTC Kretchik monitors two military history detachments (MHDs) in support of the historical collection effort in Bosnia, Croatia and Hungary. Two other MHDs support the historic effort from Heidelberg, Germany, one supporting the historian at Headquarters, USAREUR, and one supporting Dr. Charles the historian at Headquarters, V Corps. Below are members of the 90th MHD. The 90th supported JOINT ENDEAVOR by collecting and organizing the documents, discs and photos collected in the field by other MHDs. also traveled around Germany interviewing other units involved in supporting JOINT ENDEAVOR. The Military History Detachments consist of three soldiers each - two non-serving officers commanded by a major. The MHDs currently supporting Operation JOINT ENDEAVOR are all from the spare parts: the 130th MHD from the North Carolina National Guard, the 102d MHD of the Kansas National Guard, the 90th MHD from the US Army Reserve, and the 49th MHD also from the US Army Reserve. Members of the 102d MHD were on hand to record the arrival of Russian airborne troops to the Zone of Separation (ZOS) at Check Point Shark on February 1. One of task force Eagle's primary missions was to enforce the separation of the warring parties in Bosnia and Herzegovina along a line set by the Dayton Peace Accords. In order to ensure the protection of US forces operating in Bosnia and Herzegovina, all vehicles leaving the fortified base camps must be moved in convoys of four vehicles and equipped with at least one machine gun. Field historians also face the dangers of mines littering the countryside (some estimates range up to six million mines in Bosnia, with only a million of them in marked minefields). Sergeant Ruelhl (right), 130th MHD interviewing Private First Class Jody Johnston, 358th Mobile Public Affairs Detachment at Base Camp Lisa near Vlasenica, Srpska (named for territory under Bosnian Serb control) Sergeant Woodall (left), 130th MHD interviewing Specialist Jeremy Webb, HHC Engineer Bde, TF Eagle, at Camp Camp Steel Castle near Tuzla. Interviewing soldiers participating in Operation JOINT ENDEAVOR requires the field historians to go to the various base camps and check points where the troops work. Field historians traveled widely within TF Eagle's competence area of responsibility to provide in-depth coverage of the operation. The ZOS is sprinkled with checkpoints manned by Implementation Force (IFOR) forces. The building behind this checkpoint on the road to Vlasenica shows the recent scars of battle. Members of the 130th MHD treated the opening of the fixed bridge over the Sava built by Hungarian Army engineers in collaboration with engineers of the U.S. Army in the city of Brcko on March 28. Brcko is the only area in dispute of the Dayton Agreements that was so difficult to resolve that it was mediated at a later date. The army's military historians in the field continue to serve the country collecting and preserving valuable information on Operation JOINT ENDEAVOR. We will continue to deploy armed forces to support U.S. foreign policy. The Collected by army field historians provides an increasingly important record of how to develop such operations and will be used to help chart future missions for America's Army - Force XXI. eBayNato In Collectible Military Surplus Patches Item location: Hayden, Idaho, United States Shipping to: Worldwide Excludes: Korea, South Angola, Cameroon, Cambodia, Cayman Islands, Djibouti, French Polynesia, Honduras, Libya, Mongolia, Ecuador, El Salvador, Suriname, Guyana, Panama, Mauritius, Somalia, Brunei Darussalam, Chad, Madagascar, New Caledonia, Western Samoa, Bahamas, Bermuda, Iran, Jamaica, Saint Kitts-Nevis, Lucia Saint, Trinidad and Tobago, Western Sahara, Wallis and Futuna, Nepal, Bolivia, , Gambia, Kyrgyzstan, Laos, Papua New Guinea, Congo, Republic of the Republic of the Republic of The Republic, Seychelles, Sudan, Guadeloupe, Uganda, Vanuatu, Venezuela, Burma, Antigua and Barbuda, Burundi, Cuba, Republic, Congo, Democratic Republic of the Republic of the, Kiribati, Reunion, Yemen, Aruba, Barbados, Belize, Ghana, Grenada, Haiti, Liberia, Nicaragua, Sierra Leone, Central African Republic, Comoros, Martinique, Tuvalu, Dominica, Lebanon, Niger Related Products Customers Also Viewed the United States Cuban Missile Crisis 1962 patch - CCCP Cold War Veteran September 2, 1946 - December 26, 1991 Military Patched Joint Task Task Operation Inherent Resolve the Fight agianst ISIS Iraq military patch patch
