Ms. 55 and I would like to wish our beloved queen the melody many happy returns on the day as she turns 83 years young. Lata Mangeshkar (1929-) Given this special occasion, I decided to share one of my all-time favorite songs performed by Lata Mangeshkar: the lag jaa storm from the classic film Raj Khosla noir wau Kaun Thi? (1964). I am often asked to name my favorite song Lata, but I believe that this request will be challenging because there are just too many gems to narrow it down to one choice. Instead, I feel compelled to prepare a list, and I can say that this song consistently makes my top ten compilation of personal favorites rendered by India's favorite nightingale. Sadhana shows ethereal beauty in Woh Kaun Thi? (1964) Written by Raja Mehndi Ali Khan and written by Madan Mohan, this song was immortalized as a true gem of the Hindi industry. Through the expression of carp diem philosophy, these texts encourage listeners to live in the moment and cherish their loved ones now before the opportunity escapes in the future. The beautiful simplicity of these texts is enhanced by the sublime melody created by Madan Mohan - one of the best in his career. Lata Mangeshkar's voice is also at its best here, and her impeccable performance takes this song to the next level. It is certainly not a mystery why this song survived the test of time as one of Bollywood's most cherished musical numbers.
