The original pilot episode of the series aired on September 7, 2003, without many of the main characters of the current version, and in early 2004 Nickelodeon ordered the series. The hour-long finale of the special film series aired on June 8, 2007. The show was produced by Apollo ProScreen GmbH and Co. Filmproduktion KG in collaboration with Jack Mackie Pictures. Its chief executive producer and creator is Scott Felts, chief writer of The Fairly OddParents. The Declassified Survival Guide at Premise Ned follows the lives of Ned Bigby, Jennifer Moze Moseley and Simon Cookie Nelson-Cook. The first season takes place in the first semester of the seventh grade, the second season covers the second semester of the seventh grade, and the third season takes place in the eighth grade. Throughout the series, Ned builds a series of tips for his survival guide, and uses tips to help himself and his classmates cope with the standard struggle of high school. Each individual episode relates to a theme in the manual, such as popularity, ratings or sports, as well as the development of other subjects (such as Ned's love life) throughout. Bullock as Mr. Monroe (lead role, season 1; recurring role, seasons 2-3) Daran Norris as Gordy (repetitive role, season 1; lead role, seasons 2-3) Location Show takes place at the fictional James K. Polk High School, named after the 11th U.S. president James K. Polk. The school's exterior was filmed at La Mesa Junior High in Santa Clarita, California. (quote necessary) The colors of the school are gold and green, and its mascot are wolves, which is a common theme throughout the school's interior. During the first season, all the action of the show took place in the school or on its territory, and except for one or two notable cases, everything happened indoors. However, during season 2, the show's producers decided they wanted more external scenes, citation needed so more outdoor shots were used, and in some cases, the show took place from school property. The finale of the show, for example, took place almost entirely at the expense of school grounds. DVD releases In the U.S. had four DVD releases made for the series. TEENick Picks, Volume 1 is released April 18, 2006 - features a guide to: Computer Labs and Backpacks (Season 1, Episode 9) A Special Edition Field Trip released August 28, 2007 - features Field Trips, Resolution Slips, Signs, and Guides to: Dismissal and School Play. Best Season 1 and Best Season 2 are both released on September 23, 2008 exclusively for Amazon.com. The first season of Ned's Declassified School Survival Guide was released on DVD in the Netherlands, Australia and Belgium on April 9, 2009. The Netherlands also released a second season, although both seasons were released only with a Dutch dubbing. It is not known whether more places will follow in Europe, or elsewhere. In the United States, the entire series was released on iTunes, but in season 2, an episode of Music Class and Class clown is missing. All three seasons are currently available on Amazon Video's Instant Streaming Service (season 2, episode 18: Music Class and Clown Class is the only episode that is missing). All three seasons were previously available on Netflix Instant Streaming Service (season 2, episode 18: Music Class and Class of the Clown was the only episode missing). Alliance Home Entertainment has released the first two seasons on DVD only in Canada. The third and final season was to be released on February 7, 2012 only in Canada, but again production was postponed. The Debut Debut debut at Ned's School of Survival on September 12, 2004 received a rating of 4.5 with 914,000 viewers, which was described as a healthy but not as stellar rating by Denise Martin of Variety. Critical Robert The Los Angeles Times after reviewing the series finale of Ned's Declassified School Survival Guide noticed that it was one of the best TV series - a show that took genre conventions and ran them through unpredictable changes. Proposed spin-off in June 2008, Werkheiser signed a development contract with Nickelodeon for a spin-off that will deal with the adventures of his character in high school. The show has never been a greenlit for production, because other major actors from the original series were busy with their own projects - creator and executive producer Scott Felts worked on another Nickelodeon show, Big Time Rush; Daniel Curtis Lee was a devotee of Disney XD in Zick and Luther; and Lindsey Shaw worked as a presenter on ABC's Family 10 Things I Hate About You.
