I have a secret. I live in Maryland, but I love my New York team (I have that weird Mets, Jets, Knicks combos). I'm not a die-hard fan in that I change my schedule because I have to watch every game (good luck - it's 260 games combined), but I like to catch the game when I can. (although these Jets games are getting harder and harder to watch year after year... last year was a little better than expected, but still brutal and it's coming ... we'll see!) Since I'm out of the market, I don't get a lot of games on TV. I could buy each of the professional sports packages - NFL Sunday ticket, MLB TV, and NBA League Pass - but that would be absurd. I'm not going to spend thousands to watch sports. Most of the time, I don't even watch. I don't miss much. If you are in a similar situation and want to catch a few games for free, here's how to do it with online streams. Before you look - Protect yourself! Before I show you where -- remember that these are unauthorized threads. You're about a foot in darker, smaller than the savoury, parts on the internet. Install an ad blocker and update antivirus software, you'll be inundated with ads and pop-ups. My favorite antivirus is free - AVG - and I use AdBlock Pro on Google Chrome and I still get pop-ups. You can also install a VPN, which means a virtual private network like HiddenVPN. It's a legal gray area. There are often unauthorized streams. If you want to go legal, you can look at this list of 10 sites that pay you money and start making some of them to help pay for sports packages. They run in hundreds of dollars a year. As you find Live Sports Streams for a while, people go to the sites themselves. They had strange names, they were placed on international servers, and they were so often accepted. They were reliable until they were, so I never sought to dig deeper. Then I realized that there is a community of people who need to know where the flows are. There is - it's Reddit. For any sport you can think of, there's a subreddit for it: r/ncaaBBallStreams - College Basketball p/CFBStreams - College Football p/nflstreams - National Football League r/MLBStreams - Major League Baseball r/NHLStreams - National Hockey League r/nbastreams - National Basketball Association r/MMAstreams - Mixed Martial Arts Streams I Think You're Going. The list is almost endless. I want to warn you again... these sites are often very shady with lots of ads, lots of pop-ups, and my AVG virus scanner goes crazy sometimes blocking viruses and Trojan horses. Continue at your own risk! Finally, and it's unrelated, one of the fun things about watching these streams is that you often get satellite and they include conversations of broadcasters when they are not broadcasting in the world. One day I listened to Al Trautwig, Trautwig, Being a commentator during a Knicks game, there's this mundane conversation about whether to make the next shot reporting sitting or standing up. I don't know why I liked hearing this, but it was better than another ad! How to watch PGA Tour Events Major Championships have their own websites where they broadcast various featured groups and holes throughout the tournament. There are four major championships, and here are their websites: The Masters - the U.S. Open - the U.S. Open - PGA Championship - As for non-majors, Google's name to see if they offer a live stream or you can rely on Reddit. How to watch World Cup matches Appropriate sub-reddit for the World Cup will be Soccerstreams Reddit - r/soccerstreams/ and it does a good job of listing active games. If you don't mind dealing with a trial, Hulu will be your best option for streaming every game online (our review is Hulu Plus. They have them all and they have a free trial so you can watch them during the trial and cancel before paying. It won't be free, but it's pretty cheap. DirecTV now runs a promotion where you can get your services within 3 months for as little as $10 with the promo code YESNOW3. We've done a review of DirecTV now and their basic package includes TNT, TBS, TruTV, and CBS - all the channels you need to watch the NCAA Men's Basketball March Madness Tournament. The tournament only lasts a few weeks, so you'll have extra months to enjoy the programming. $10 to watch the games? You can't knock out this deal. The service will be updated at the full price, which is $35 per month, after the first three months if you cancel. Learn more about DirecTV Now enjoy! As you probably already know, the world is now facing a Pokemon epidemic due to the release of Pokemon Go, a new augmented reality game that has sent everyone away from your younger sister Chrissy Teigen on a quest to catch them all. The mobile app, which can be downloaded from the Android or iOS store, works by tracking your location so you find and catch Pokemon based on where you are IRL. That's literally everything you hoped for and dreamed of. I mean, come on, if that's not a sign that we're living in the future. I don't know what is. Since we can't trade Pokemon yet, we need to get cunning when it comes to getting Ahold new Pokemon. Fortunately, the app allows you to develop pokemon, which happens to be a great way of getting new Pokemon that you may not have learned in the wild, or, you know, in your your So, if you caught every Eevee in sight and are currently wondering how to develop one of them into a Pokemon cooler way like Vaporeon or Flareon, you've come to the right place. Follow the steps below to turn your Pokemon into a bigger, badder, and better Pokemon. Get Candy in order to develop your Pokemon, you have to have a certain amount of candy. Each candy is specific to each type of Pokemon and their evolution. For example, if you're trying to develop Pidgey, you'll need 12 Pidgey Candy. Once you evolve Pidgey to Pidgeotto, however, you will still need Pidgey candy to evolve Pidgeotto into Pidgeot. Each Pokemon also needs a different amount of candy to develop. Poliwhag only needs 25 Poliwhag Candy, but if you're trying to develop Magikarp, good luck: you need 400 Magikarp Candy. You get this candy through catching Pokemon within the evolution line that you're interested in, you can also get one candy by passing those Pokemon that you can do by selecting the Pokemon you want to pass on and clicking the Gear at the bottom of the page. You can find out how many candies you have by going to any of these Pokemon separate information pages. It will tell you how many candies you need under the height and weight of Pokemon. Choose Pokemon, if you have enough candy to develop Pokemon, you probably have a ton of the same type of Pokemon to choose from. However, you can choose carefully since you lose the candy when you develop one of your Pokemon. A good way to decide which one to develop is by choosing the strongest. The more CP, or combat power, Pokemon, the more likely it is to win the battle. So even if you can really be tied to the first Venonat you caught that only 10 CP, it will be wiser to develop the other Venonat you have that has 219 CP. To choose the Pokemon you want, go to all your Pokemon and click on the one you want to evolve. This will lead you to their individual information page where you can develop them. Evolve Your Pokemon Once you have enough candy and have chosen exactly which Pokemon you want to evolve, all you need to do now is press a button that says: Evolution. If there is a button with the name Evolve, but it will not allow you to choose it, it is probably because you do not have enough candy. It should say in red how many candies you need to develop your Pokemon. But, if the option is not available at all, it means that your pokemon is the latest evolution in the line and can not be turned into another Pokemon. If the button lets you click on it, however, the candy you've accumulated will be spent and your Pokemon will turn into the next Pokemon in the evolution line. Now you have a super cool new Pokemon to add to your Pokedex. Hopefully The tips will help you on your quest to be the best like no one has ever been. And that includes the way we watch TV. We no longer have to tune in at the right time to see the shows that we want to see, and we don't have to go out hunting box set DVDs to catch the season of our favorite shows. We can do most of this online. Of course, illegal downloading and streaming are very popular, but it deprives many people who have worked to make TV shows the compensation they deserve for their blood, sweat and tears - plus the available options can often be of poor quality and you run the risk of infecting your computer or mobile device with a virus if you don't know what you're doing. Here's a guide to various legal ways to watch TV online for those not familiar with the process who want to break out of scratched-DVD hell or demanding TV schedules. Yes, it will cost you some money, but there are also many benefits. Streaming services There's a litany of options for viewing content online. One of the most popular methods is the use of an online streaming service like Netflix, Hulu Plus, or Amazon Prime Instant Video. These services charge either a monthly or annual fee and give you access to tons of content, although there is always a chance that the particular show you are looking for will not be on any streaming service that you have. The content of these services have access to always changes as they make new deals, so you're not stuck with the same options month after month. The aforementioned services are also excellently titled for watching movies, and have also started to do original shows that you can't find on traditional TV channels. Many of these shows, like Netflix's House of Cards and Orange is the New Black, have received rave reviews. There are several limited options for online streaming that are legal and free. Crackle is a website that offers movies and TV shows for free streaming, but this ad is supported and you end up seeing about as many commercials as you would watch programming on cable. The amount of crackle content also offers a slim choice than subscription services, since the site doesn't have the financial muscle to make giant purchases of content like big sites, so it can be harder to find your favorite show. (But he has Seinfeld!) The downside of an online streaming service is that you are at the mercy of the content that the company has to offer: You can't just choose any TV show under the sun and you're guaranteed to be able to watch it. You also don't own them, so if Netflix gets rid of your favorite sitcom, you'll find yourself unable to watch it. Download One of the ways to own the show and watch them in to download them. Whether you're a fan of Google or Apple, both iTunes and The Google Play Store offer show shows through those accounts that become yours to own. Prices can vary if you buy individual episodes or whole seasons. Of course, buying individual titles to own is more expensive than paying a small fee for a streaming service and gaining access to piles of content. Whether you prefer to own or stream shows, watching them online is the way to go if you're tired of dealing with DVDs and TV graphics. There are many safe, legal options that don't cost too much and allow you to look at all your devices at your convenience.
