I have been waiting for this product for years. There is no other system available that will compete with the CP-940. So I have, finally, decided to buy. I have yet to get the plane activated in my phone. I have a satellite phone, so I can call the company and find out where they are with activation, but I cant get them to answer my calls. I called the sales person who sold me the plane, and they said they would send me an email with the activation code, and they have not. But I can't even get to activation on my phone. I can't get to the activation panel. Even though the phone is set to accept satellite phone numbers, the phone still does not have the CP-940. I called the sale person on the phone, and all they can do is read a message to me that says "You have not activated your tracking app on your phone".
