

Roy E. Schutzengel, MD, MBA began his tenure as the Medical Director for the Integrated Systems of Care Division at the California Department of Health Care Services in January of 2019. Prior to joining state service, in addition to being a practicing pediatrician for over 30 years, he served as a VP and Corporate Medical Director for Adventist Health West (21 hospital/4 state health system), as the Chief Medical and Strategy officer for Elica Health Center (Sacramento-based Federally Qualified Health Center), and as the Chief Medical Officer for Wang Healthcare (electronic health record company). As a result of his leadership and excellence in the field of medicine, he is recognized as one of America's leading medical practitioners and is a pioneer in transforming health care through the implementation and use of cutting-edge technology.

Dr. Schutzengel has a unique blend of business, clinical, academic, and healthcare administration, technology, and organizational skills that he utilizes to promote clinical and operational excellence. He is a gifted communicator who can convey complex medical / technology concepts and deliver presentations to audiences of all sizes. He is also the author of multiple publications in various journals. Dr. Schutzengel received his bachelor's degree in Chemistry from Swarthmore College, his Medical Degree from the University of Pennsylvania, his post-graduate medical training at the University of California – Davis in general pediatrics, completed a National Institute of Medicine supported fellowship in Pediatric Endocrinology, and a Pediatric Hematology/Oncology fellowship at Yale University. In addition, he has a master's degree in business administration from Villanova University.