I created Pocket Tank in 2001, and thanks to many loyal fans, it's still in active development to this day. Please join me in my quest to make a pocket tank of a classic artillery game that stands the test of time. thank you all that has supported BlitWise for years. -Michael P. Welch Author of DX-Ball & Scorched Tanks Millions downloads, over a decade of fun! For the PC/Mac version tour: www.blitwise.com Top Pcmac Review great game by Jason Thomas Gross (Pcmac user) I really like this game, and I've played for Time. One issue I had with him was, suddenly, my attack didn't hit the house anymore. I never had trouble dialing to hit the target, but recently I could barely get a direct hit, my shots flew all over. Meanwhile the computer hit me dead on every shot. I have the wind off, level 5. Besides that I was like, but it wasn't encouraging to be hit so bad by the computer, when I knew I exactly layered my own shots and they ended up being way out I loved this game by Frexx Graphics (user Pcmac) I was playing this game because I was like ... 7 and I bought all the packs and everything because it was an amazing game. The only thing though is that they don't update anymore and it's really sad because I'm going to love the new pack and everything. So if the developer is out there and you see this, please make more stuff for this amazing game. I'll love that and I'm sure others will too. Love this game – not so happy with the latest updates. By The Dixonian (Pcmac user) I wasn't happy with one feature on version 2.4.3 - auto zoom when opting for firearms. I zoom out manually, then it zooms in automatically. If I wanted to zoom in, I'd do it manually. Give me the option to disable it. Otherwise, this is a great game. Has played for almost as long as it has existed. The longest I've ever played my brother's video game and I've been playing this game since almost the beginning and there's always been a version on my computer, even though I don't have access to the internet. So happy to have found the app. We've played a few hundred rounds at the time of this writing, thanks not having to be in the same room anymore. Again.
