

OVERCOMING CULTURAL BARRIERS IN WORKPLACE

Abstract

It is interesting to view cultures as ways to appreciate diversity of human civilizations. It is more interesting to learn a systematic approach on how these cultures are reflected on daily practices at workplace as leadership, evaluating, disagreeing, deciding communicating persuading, trusting and scheduling.

This workshop which was offered successfully to more than 100 participants from different companies is based on Erin Meyer's "Culture Map" book; a professor from INSEAD institute which helped us to understand how to professionally overcome cultural barriers at work regardless of our team members / customers cultural backgrounds.
