

Ivy Ganadillo

Director of Maritime Programs

Ivy Ganadillo is Director of Maritime Programs at YCAPS, where she works with its Center for Maritime Capacity. She is also a non-resident fellow at the Indo-Pacific Studies Center and a foreign policy analyst at FACTS Asia. Her current research interests include maritime security, ocean governance, the shipbuilding industry, and East Asian security dynamics. She has presented her research and shared her expertise at various international and regional forums, including those organized by the Armed Forces of the Philippines, the Western Pacific Naval Symposium, the Center for International Law at the National University of Singapore, La Trobe Asia, and the UWA Defense and Security Institute. Her research and analysis have been published in academic journals and policy platforms, including the Asia Maritime Transparency Initiative, the East-West Center's Asia Pacific Bulletin, La Trobe Asia's Blue Security Maritime Affairs Series, and Asia Brief. She is a Ph.D. candidate in International Relations at Ewha Womans University in Seoul and previously served as a defense analyst for the Philippine Navy. She has also taught Foreign Policy, International Relations, and Security at Ateneo de Manila University and the Polytechnic University of the Philippines.