Atomic email hunter download

THE SOLUTION FOR THOSE WHO WANT TO MAKE MONEY ON THE INTERNET BY DEREACHING ADVERTISING EMAILS !   Atomic Email Hunter is an email extractor that is designed to collect email addresses and user names from the websites you define. Email search is easy to use. In most cases, all you need to get results is to enter a valid URL or type multiple keywords into the search bar. With it, searching for email addresses is as easy as using Internet search engines. Enter keywords and the system will find the top ranking pages directly from Google (or other search engines of your choice), and then search for emails on your pages. Keyword search is a very useful feature. The system allows you to extract more specific email addresses when searching for one or more sites focused on a niche. It provides a variety of filters for scanning web pages, for example, you can configure it to include only pages containing certain words such as contact, about us, feedback, and you can limit the depth of your search. It's very fast because it works with multithried connections. The mail collector requires little machine resource and can run silently in the background on any INTERNET-connected PC. Nor does it depend on any software adds: Atomic Email Hunter is a special software designed to locate user names and email addresses that are contained in different web pages and maintain them for users. This is great for small business owners who are starting an email campaign because they can find people who want to get in touch quickly and comfortably. Time to go hunting To take advantage of Atomic Email Hunter, users simply need to enter the names of websites that want the software to scan. While this may take some time initially, it promises to make life much easier in the long run. As users adopt the software, they can also speed up the process by typing the types of keywords that sites search for so that the software can track these sites automatically without any additional interaction. Are you ready to go atomic? People who need to pick up a large number of email addresses and want to save time will probably find that using Atomic Email Hunter is a good solution for them. With AtomPark Atomic Email Hunter for PC, you can extract email addresses from websites where you know your potential customers use business-specific keywords. It is an amazing and valuable tool! Of the 68 search engines included in the program, 5 are used for default search. You can select the ones you want to use in the e-mail collector. You'll find them in the Settings/Search Engines section. You can select as many as you want. Atomic Email Hunter for Windows uses the default Internet Explorer settings and automatically chooses the most suitable proxy. We recommend that you manually specify a proxy server. To do this, you must enter the proxy address and port number, your connection, and your password. A proxy server is useful when any website blocks an IP address because it has gone over a limited number of access attempts. The AtomPark software also keeps the IP address hidden, making visits to anonymous sites. There are some emails that fit as spam traps. When these addresses receive an email, the sender's email will be listed in the blacklist. The email collector does not extract these addresses. Make sure the effectiveness of future campaigns by turning on this option to open hidden emails. This can be done in Common/Advanced Settings/Settings.
