There are some major changes to the rankings moving forward. 1) The athletes have been placed in the weight class where they live... Mer participated in tournaments in the summer and fall of 2020, rather than the places he competed in before the epidemic. Uncertainties in the high school season, including some delays and canceling opportunities, will have a key impact on the rankings for competitions outside of the traditional scholastic season. 2) There are many... Pittsburgh Wrestling It has been around since 1975, and throughout its history, the Classic has played some of the best amateur wrestlers in the country. A total of 176 NCAA champions and 28 Olympians participated in the Classic. The best high school senior teams in the country are in a dual meeting format, absturing with pennsylvania's top seniors. Proceeds from the Classic Benefit Youth Wrestling Program at Western PA's Boys and Girls Club. The POWERade wrestling tournament has been a long success. In 1967, POWERade boasted a total of 33 NCAA champions and seven Olympians who competed in Pennsylvania's toughest tournaments. Each season POWERade Field seems to get better with state and national powers converging on Canon McMillan High School in December. The event will be held in youth, junior, junior varsity and varsity level competitions. Only the best will deserve to wield the PA Power Surge Hammer Award! Starting in 2018, PA Power Wrestling has hosted surge wrestling tournaments designed to help wrestlers across the country prove their worth for top-notch competition. Serge's goal is to build confidence in wrestlers who want to take their name and skills to the next level. Many of the athletes in the surge won state and national championships. Fargo is wrapped up because it's almost August, and many of the state's top wrestlers are preparing to start their final year of high school. It also means college coaches are on the hunt for top recruits. The 2020 class recruiting rankings are based on a number of factors and mainly weigh on wrestlers' performance in the Scholmatic season, but take into account things like freestyle/Greco-Roma results and off-season competition. They are not necessarily attempts to predict success at the college level, but rather the overall ranking of their attractiveness to coaches on the recruiting trail. Fans can see a column titled TIF that represents the wrestler's ranking in the 2017 Top Freshmen Report, nearly four years ago. The same wrestler who entered high school as pennsylvania's top-ranked first #1 the same wrestler in 2020. His name is Beau Bartlett and is a three-time national prep champion at Seminary in Wyoming. He was born in Arizona, but Bartlett and his family moved to keystone state a few years before he began his career in seminary. Bartlett has no plans to leave Pennsylvania during any time soon. He is committed to continuing his career at Happy Valley against Penn State and head coach Cael Sanderson. Bartlett has achieved a lot in his three high school years in high school, but there's room for more. In December 2017 Bartlett rose to fame when he played two undefeated players at POWERade. In the semifinals Taking on 126-pound Beau, then Three-Time PIAA State Champion Gavin Tisdale (Jefferson Morgan) before beat Sopomore, undefeated PIAA state champion Sam Hillewas (North Hills). Bartlett scored his first loss of his life as he reached the final with a 134-0 record to Tisdale. Ironically, Teasdale graduated and went to Penn State, but at the end of his first semester, he is in Iowa. In added to his three National Prep titles and the POWERade Championship, Bartlett recently finished eighth at the US Open in the Senior Men's Freestyle category. Bartlett, who is 61 kilograms, went 3-3 and defeated former Pennsylvania State All-American Jordan Conaway in the process. In the prestigious Super 32, he has been runner-up twice and owns the title of Iron Man. Last season, he finished fifth in both The Beast and Iron Man. Moving up to 138 pounds from Bartlett in his senior season may be ranked #1 the nation byflo wrestling and 141 pounds for coach Sanderson. Sitting behind Bartlett is two-time PIAA state champion Sam Hillewas. The North Hills product has dominated opponents for 10 years. He is 118-2 in his career with defeats coming only to Bartlett at POWERade in 2017 and Julian Chlebove in the 2019 PIAA State semifinals. Most recently, Sammy finished fourth in Fargo in his first Junior National Freestyle Championship. He has won two POWERade titles and recently finished sixth and fourth in two Super 32 tournaments. Hille has committed to Virginia Tech. #3 coming into the 1990s was Canon McMillan's Gerrit Nijenhuis, who won his first PIAA state title when he toppled two-time PiaAA State Champ Susquehanna Twp in March. Nizenhuis experienced the postseason up and down after being named the standout wrestler of the 2019 PIAA State Tournament. He lost twice in the Virginia Beach Duel, including a loss to fellow Pennsylvania wrestler Clayton Ulay. Gerrit bounced back from Fargo and finished runner-up in freestyle at 170 pounds. He was ranked third #2 by Flo, who was #3 by Clayton Ulay, and has never finished third in the PIAA State tournament, finishing third, third and first. Speaking of Ulay, Mullett is ranked in the #6 class of 2020, but #3 can still take his place. If Woolley had won the final against Sopomore Trey Kibe, he probably would. Ulay has one of the best offseasons of any wrestler in the United States. In April, he won the 80-kilogram Cadet Freestyle Flowmance title. In May, they defeated Nizenhuis 8-2, undefeated 10-0 at the NHSCA Virginia Beach Duels. The following weekend, he joined the U.#7. Cadet World team along with 2018 PIAA state champion and 2018 champion Hunter Catka (Sun Valley). Woolley performed every year of high school and finished fifth in his rookie year. He reached the final as a junior in 2019. He also finished third in the 2018 Super 32. One #4 list is two-time PIAA state champion Thane Lawrence (Presyer). By far the highest uncommitted wrestler is currently selected by Flo as #7 170 pounds in the country. We won't see Thayne since he went and VA Beach Duel competed at 10-1 to 160 pounds so he doesn't do much freestyle wrestling. In the 2018 Super 32 Thayne placed in 7th place at 152 pounds. Like Nizenhuis, Thane has never finished below third in the PIAA State tournament, where he finished third, first and first. The best overall player in the group could be Guyji Garcia (Southern Columbia #5), who is on his way to Michigan for both wrestlers and football players. He is one of the country's top recruits in both sports and is currently selected by Flo as the #6 in the US at £195. In 2019, he won his first PIAA state title after finishing fifth and third on two trips. Football will be Garcia's main focus in Ann Aver, but he could have a big impact on the Wolverines' wrestling team. The top 10 includes Andrew Cerniglia (Notre Dame-#8), who won the PIAA state title in 2019. Luke Stoute (Mount Lebanon), the 2019 state runner-up and 2018 Fargo cadet national champion, #9. #10 Ed Scott of The Boyz, who won his first PIAA state title in 2019 at 138 pounds.
