

We're ready to grow our team!

We're looking for unique individuals. Those who believe what we believe. Those who have a love for nature and science. Those who see a need for environmental stewardship. Those who think outside of the box. Those who love helping others.

Harold's Famous, a brand of Divine Api-Logics LLC, formulates skin care products using ingredients harvested from the honeybee. We make healthy products to help people while maintaining environmental responsibility. In 2014 we requested patent protection for the first product of it's kind, a topical cream containing humanely extracted honeybee venom in plant derived oils; this product is now known as Harold's Famous Bee Cream. We continue to add new products and brands to our portfolio.
