Hey KA, this article is just looking at the meaning of Vixx Shangri-La's image. I looked at both the lyrics and the music video and found out what it means. Vixx's new concept focuses on East Asian mythology. At the beginning of the song, a traditional Korean string instrument called Oyajum is played. This is why East Asian mythology has taken up all of the meanings described below. What is Shangri-La? In the book, it is suggested that Shangri-La is located somewhere in Tibet. It is a mysterious and harmonious place where people are happy forever. People are said to be almost immortal aging to live a much slower and much longer life than usual. Shangri-La is a place isolated from the outside world and containing all the wisdom of mankind. It has rich cultural properties and lives in harmony with nature. Shangri-La's inspiration may come from andrade stories where Andrade finds the wealthy kingdom of the Himalayas, or Chambara, which appears as a mysterious concept. Shambhira is a magical land and does not know war and sorrow. Shangri-La is a land that doesn't change and is connected to the past. Water and smoke these two emphasize the idea of dreaming. Smoke gives more mysterious and magical effects to music videos. Water can literally represent the unconscious. And in most music videos, the fact that members are standing in the water is just a dream, and in fact the music video that Shangri-La Peach doesn't have has a golden peach. At first I didn't know if it was a peach, but the lyrics refer to [1]. What I have found is that peaches can symbolize immortality, love, and godness. Immortality is tied to the ageless inhabitants of Shangri-La. Peaches have the mysterious property of moving to eat longevity, so they can be eaten by immortals. That's why I think the members don't eat peaches in music videos. They are tempted, but they don't want to be immortal. I think this is about how they don't want to live without their love. Moon I think The Moon is a really important picture in this music video. In the lyrics they sing, When the white moon appears, I'll see you on the moon. This could be a reference to a Chinese fairy tale that I found about the fairy Chang E who lives in the moon. To summarize Chang Yi's husband, Hou Yi, he was a tyrannical ruler and archer. One day he stole the Elixir of life from the goddess. To save people from her husband's rule, Chan E drank Elixir and floated on the moon. Hou Lee loved God's beautiful wife, so he didn't shoot the moon. Basically the idea is that they have lost their love and can't be with her. This is also supported by the lyrics when it says I flyFlying to the moon like your fairy tale Chan E in a dream, in their dreams, they can fly with her. I think they're in Shangri-La. Maybe they went to find happiness after losing their love. The day-to-day meal was regarded as a sign of heaven that could foresee the Emperor's future. The solarning was thought to have happened when the heavenly dragon ate the sun. I couldn't think how this would link to Shangri-La, but it was interesting, so I put it in. : Joy: Flowers I find interesting things about the meaning of blooming flowers. Petals are easy to scatter, so it's a snout of an unfaithful lover. Petals will be displayed through the music video. The song begins with Flowers blooming and the last lyrics are [1] Bloom again. It was dishonest many times to suggest their lover. In the lyrics, I is written as Hirahira and Petals. They symbolize the intense trance of love that members can feel. I'm not sure if they actually feel this love or the magic of Shanli La. Images of other flowers are cherry blossoms, peonies and orchids. Cherry blossoms symbolize wisdom, beauty, happiness, love and spiritual consciousness. I think wisdom and spiritual consciousness are the foundation of Shangri-La. That's why members are becoming smarter and more spiritual. Peony symbolizes wealth, honor and a high social class. As members gain wisdom and learn, they will be seen as scholars. Scholars had a very high social class and were seen as noble. (I think this is a flower drawn on Ken's back.) Orchid symbolizes academic pursuit, cultural gentleman and honesty. While members are trying to overcome lost love, they are looking for something else. Knowledge of discovery is a lot of distracties because they are still dreaming of love. I may be completely wrong, but I think there are Korean pine trees in the music video as well. These symbolize longevity, godlyness, and honor. Again, this is linked with the immortal inhabitants of Shangri-La and the mysterious feel of the land. Two animals included deer and peacocks in their music videos. I have found that deer represent friendship, longevity and they can be seen through human nature. It is also considered a holy creature because of its beauty and gentle nature. It makes sense to have holy creatures in mysterious and sacred places like Shangri-La. In my opinion, anyone who goes to Shangri-La will help them find their nature and be patient as people learn. Peacocks can symbolize compassion. It can help those who walk spiritual ways and breathe new lives into the walk of faith. In Shangri-La, I think happiness comes from finding peace and your spiritual self. So in the music video, the members seem to be on a spiritual journey to find their happiness in Shangri-La fans, but the fans were first used to block out the sun of high status. Folding fans represent scholarships and this links to Shangri-La's idea of retaining all human wisdom. If a person goes to Shangri-La, they may learn this wisdom from scholars. Fan Chinese characters have the same sound as letters for gentleness. Kindness is the essence of human nature, and pollution from modern society is thought to be filling it. That's why Shangri-La doesn't modernize itself and remains out of the past, so you can't have sadness in it. The concept of Vixx is always great and this blew me away. It was really interesting to study myths and learn about folklore.
