Dear viewers: We can't always build a future for our youth, but we can build our youth for the future. Franklin D. Roosevelt's Franklin D. Roosevelt described our goal, which must be achieved through evaluation. Once we have the opportunity to learn, we want to make sure that our students learn that their learning is consistent with life experience. Their holistic approach will look across borders not just books. The future can be seen as abstract and unknown, but the subjects in our hands can be formed according to the patterns of life. That's why he said that score drives learning. Thus, the assessment does not create the future, but makes the subjects ready for the future. The harder it is to work, the higher it will achieve. You don't have to be great to start, you have to start being big.
