Form 1040A is one of three tax forms - along with Form 1040 and Form 1040, which most taxpayers use to file their annual tax returns. Compared to form 1040 and form 1040 ELYAT, form 1040A is rather an option between them. It is shorter and less detailed than the traditional form of 1040, and it also offers more tax breaks than Form 1040E. To use Form 1040A, you must have a taxable income of less than $100,000 and not be self-employed, and choose a standard deduction rather than a detailing deduction. If you meet the requirements for filing Form 1040A, follow this step-by-step process. Step 1 - Fill in basic information and record the status of your name, address and Social Security number in the appropriate boxes. For your filing status, you can choose one, a married filing jointly, a married filing separately, the head of the family (with a qualifying person), or a qualifying widow (ER) with a dependent child. Of these five options, single and married filings together are the most commonly chosen. If you are applying for a joint return, be sure to fill out your spouse's name and Social Security number. On the right side you will see a box called the Presidential Election Campaign. You and your spouse can each contribute $3 to the Presidential Campaign Fund. When you check yes, you tell the IRS to redirect $3 of your total tax revenue to that fund. Although many taxpayers believe this contribution does not affect tax refunds or tax liabilities. Step 2 - Exceptions Usually, the more exceptions you claim, the lower your tax liability. You can claim an exemption for yourself and your spouse on line 6a and 6b. Then write down information about your dependents, which includes your name, Social Security number and relationship with you. Dependents are usually children and non-working relatives who live in your family and rely on you for financial support. For children, make sure to check form 1040A instructions to see if your son or daughter is eligible for the child's tax credit. After recording your dependents (if any), add up all your exceptions and write down the total number on line 6d. Step 3 - Income for Line 7, which is your earned income, you simply copy the amount presented on field 1 of your W-2 form. If you haven't received any changes to Form 1099, you won't have to worry about filling out lines 8a to 14b. To find out your total income, reduce all your income from lines 7 to 14b and enter this number on line 15. Step 4 - Adjusted Gross Income While You Can't Detail Deductions for Form 1040A, this section suggests above the deduction line to help reduce taxable income. These deductions include expenses for educators, IRA contributions, student loan loan and tuition fees. Fill in the correct amount of any relevant deductions on the respective lines. Reduce the lines from 16 to 20 to get the overall adjustment, and then subtract line 20 from line 15 to get adjusted gross income. Step 5 - Taxes, credits and payments First, copy adjusted gross income at Line 22. Before checking any boxes on lines 23a and 23b, please read more about these lines in form 1040A instructions. Next, enter the standard deduction amount, which will vary depending on your filing status, on line 24. Subtract line 24 from line 22 and enter the result on line 25. If it's a negative number, put 0. For line 26, multiply $4,050 by the total amount of exceptions that can be found on line 6d, and enter the amount. Finally, subtract line 26 from line 25 and put down the amount on line 27. This is your taxable income. To find out your tax for line 28, refer to the tax tables in Form 1040A instructions. If you are not subject to an alternative minimum tax, leave line 29 empty. Add lines 28 and 29, then enter the amount on line 30. For lines 31 to 35, check if you are eligible for any tax breaks. You may need to attach additional forms to qualify for these tax breaks. Add everything from lines 31 to 35 and put the result on line 36 to determine the total amount of credits. Subtract line 36 from line 30 and record the result on line 37. If you have had health insurance throughout the tax year, enter 0 on Line 38. If you have not had a full year of health insurance, you may receive a penalty and have to enter a fine amount on Line 38. For more information, check the instructions on Form 1040A. Add lines 37 and 38 together and then enter the amount on line 39 to get the total tax. Enter your federal income is held on Line 40. You can find this amount on W-2s and 1099s. To calculate the total payments, add lines 40, 41, 42a, 43, 44 and 45 together and pay the amount on line 46. Step 6 - Get a refund or Owe Money You almost reached the finish line. Now subtract line 39 from line 46. If the line 46 is larger than line 39, you'll get a refund. Enter the amount you want to return to you and your bank information for a direct deposit on lines 48a through 48d. For line 49, you can put a portion of your refund to your tax estimates next year, but why would you want to do that? Unfortunately, if line 39 is larger than Line 46, you will have to pay taxes to Uncle Sam. Enter the amount by hovering on line 50. There are several ways to pay, so check form 1040A instructions to see which one is suitable for you. You can appoint a third party - as one of our dedicated accountants - to discuss your return with the IRS on your behalf. Just fill in his name, phone number and personal identification number. Room. You sign and date your form, you can give yourself a pat on the back to complete Form 1040A. However, to avoid errors and possible audits by the IRS, it is strongly recommended to allow us to handle this form.
