A player after receiving a new hairstyle in Animal Crossing: City Folk. Starting with Animal Crossing: Wild World, the player has the ability to change their cut of and hair color. Before Animal Crossing: New Horizons, it's done at Harriet's barber shop, Shampooole. In Animal Crossing: Wild World, Shampooole is available within Nookington, meaning the player will have to unlock Nookington before being able to change their in Animal Crossing: City Folk, Shampooole returns to town and is located on the right side of the city, along the alley. In Animal Crossing: New Leaf, Shampooole must be unlocked again, after which he is on the right side of Main Street above the Able Sisters. In all three games, haircuts cost 3,000 bells, and can only be done once a day. In Animal Crossing: New Horizons, the player's hairstyle and color are selected at the beginning of the game and can be changed at any time by interacting with a mirror. In games where you need to visit Shampooole to change the player's hairstyle, answers to Harriet's questions will determine which hairstyle and color is received. In Animal Crossing: Happy Home Designer, players can freely change their hair at any time after unlocking the styling machine. In Animal Crossing: Pocket Camp, the player is able to customize their hair in the Tutorial and settings menu. Players can also wear wigs in order to access additional hairstyles. While technically considered a type of headdress, wigs will match the player's current hair color. Hairstyles[edit] In Wild World[edit] Questions[edit] In Animal Crossing: Wild World, Harriet's questions are as follows: Harriet: Hmm. Now tell me, sugar, when do you want your style to really come to life? Harriet: Do you like the sun? How does that make you feel? (if he answered every day.) Or I bet you're just the toast of every party, aren't you? (if he answered Great Nights!) Harriet will ask one of the following: If you rushed to the salon and someone called you, what would you do? (if before he answered Every day. Are clothes important to you? (if he answered Every day. and then Sweaty!) If your ideal haircut were a song, what kind of song would it be? Opposite gender hairstyles[edit] You can receive hairstyles of the opposite sex. In Wild World, Harriet will only offer this option to players who have received all hairstyles of their kind at least once. In City Folk and New Leaf, players need to get a haircut 15 times before the option appears, but they don't need to get every style available. In Happy Home Designer, opposite-sex hairstyles will not be available during initial character creation, but can be selected later after unlocking the Styling Machine. There is no option for opposite gender hairstyles in Pocket Camp. In New Horizons, the genre is referred to as style (English version only). Both styles are accessible to the player during character creation and onwards. Harriet suggesting a girl try to hairstyle a boy. A guy wearing a girl's hairstyle in City Folk. The head of the bed is a messy hairstyle that appears in Animal Crossing: City Folk, New Leaf and New Horizons. It occurs when the player has not played for 15 days or more, or time travels more than two weeks back or forth. In games before New Horizons, if the player does not replace him with a new haircut, the villagers can comment on the player's hair, and it will be difficult to pass gracie's fashion control in City Folk. Harriet will also comment when the player receives a new haircut to replace the head of the bed. In addition, the head of the bed will overwrite any other haircut that the player has, but it will not change the hair color. If the head of the bed overwrites a haircut of the opposite sex, it will become the style of the head of the gender bed. In New Horizons, since the hairstyle is customizable via a mirror/vanity, the head of the bed is temporarily, to be replaced immediately with the hairstyle chosen by the player. This also unlocks the use of the bed head as a hairstyle option when personalizing the player's appearance. Unlike all standard New Leaf hairstyles, the bed head is not available in Animal Crossing: Happy Home Designer and Pocket Camp. A girl with the head of the bed in City Folk.
