

Discussion: Peer preparation for Project #1 (share your image)

This forum is a peer-review to help you prepare for the multimodal portion of your first project.

Assignment Objective

- To find one image of "hope" to include in the essay
 - to share our images with our peers to receive feedback and inspiration for essay #1

For this discussion forum, you will explore the main idea of your essay through a visual mode of communication: We are starting to practice multimodality, which means communicating in more than one mode or style. This is SO important for life in 2024 where we consume not only words but images and videos all the time! We want to include an image for this essay as well. Since a picture is worth a thousand words, you will also include one image in your paper that captures your feelings about hope you are describing. In preparation, please post the image you will include in your project here. What made you choose it? Or, if you like creating art, you can draw it yourself or use a graphic design program.

Please respond in an encouraging and polite way to two classmates to receive full credit.

We are a diverse class community. We are here to encourage each other and grow as writers and communicators. We are in this together! Let's practice joy, kindness, and respect for each other in our communications. Please start by using you classmates name ("Hi....,) and mention one good point ("I like how...) about the post. Then add any questions or other observations you have about your group mate's post ("I was also thinking about...)
