If you,Somerville, Mass. -- The first day of trial in the gang rape of a Dorchester woman has seen numerous bombshell revelations, including the identification of another girl who is a witness. For those who haven't been following the story, the girl will testify in court that she was not the one who forced the woman to perform oral sex on two other men in a parked car in Cambridge on March 4, 2010. Her identity is protected by the judge, but it was revealed that she will be called to the stand by the man who will be charged with the crime. The first surprise came on Monday when the man who had his name entered into the Dorchester Registry of Deeds earlier this month was revealed as 18-year-old Michael H. Williams. Williams was arrested in late August at his family's home in Dorchester. He was charged with first-degree rape, three counts of indecent assault and battery on a person over the age of 14, two counts of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon and carrying a dangerous weapon. The name Michael H. Williams first appeared in the Dorchester Registry of Deeds when the property was first acquired by the victim's mother and a relative in 2006, according to a clerk at the Registry of Deeds. The clerk was unable to explain why Williams' name first appeared in the records. A spokesman for the Middlesex district attorney's office said Williams was previously arrested in October 2005 for indecent assault and battery and assault and battery. Dorchester police were in the process of issuing a warrant for Williams' arrest on Sept. 26 when he was arrested in Dorchester on an unrelated warrant. According to the Middlesex district attorney's office, Williams is also accused of assaulting a woman at a Dorchester motel in the early hours of Feb. 10, 2010. The alleged assault took place in the same room as the alleged Dorchester rape. Police said in a statement that Williams also raped a man in Cambridge in January 2010. The man was 18 at the time of the alleged rape, which occurred at the O'Toole Hilton Hotel. On Monday, Williams was released on a personal recognizance bail to appear in court again in February. He was ordered to stay 520fdb1ac7
