requesting the holy scriptures in culture. Question of comprehension worksheets to practice identifying factual information and drawing conclusions from the text. For example, "A" is the correct answer to the question included in the passage. Additionally, the text mentions the relationship between the ancient Sumerian and ancient Egyptian cultures, which is also supported by the evidence provided in the passage. The student will be required to comprehend the text and identify the correct answer among the options provided.

Another example of a comprehension worksheet involves a passage that discusses the cultural significance of the ancient city of Troy. The student is asked to choose the best answer to the question: "Who is the author of the Iliad?" The passage provides information about the author, Homer, and the historical and cultural context of the Iliad, which is a key text in ancient Greek literature. The student is expected to draw on this knowledge to select the correct answer. The worksheet also includes a section for students to write their own response to the question, encouraging them to think critically about the text and its implications.
