When he asks the twins if they can go bowling because he's never been away before, they agree to take him as a way to thank him for his help. But the	mixed up in crazy situations, some things went a little too far. Here's a list of the 10 worst things the twins have done on the show. 10 Mr. Moseby fired poor Mr. Moseby fired twins are quick to break their promise, telling him that the plan is off and they want to spend time with their dates. 7 Treatment of Mr Moseby Stress, stress and stress. If it hasn't been stressed enough, the presence of the twins has created a damaging increase in Mr. Moseby's cholesterol levels. From being injured by the twins, being plagued by the twins, to, as mentioned earlier, being discharged because of the twins. The man can't take a break. Although they do all these things with him, Mr. Moseby is essentially a parental figure in their lives and looks after them the best he can if he doesn't worry too much about the damage they	Romancing The Phone, he stole the hearts of viewers. do to the hotel. 6 Zack Manipulating Darlene In the Season 2 episode Ask Zack, Zack has an eye on Darlene. He asks her out for dinner and a movie, but she turns him off saying she's not really dating right now. If Zack wants a job on the paper because it's that or the marching band, Cody gives him the advice column, Ask Shirley. When Darlene sends a letter to Shirley, Zack uses his position on the paper, as Cody says, to manipulate her for his own personal gain, doing a bad, wrong, no no, which is morally repugnant. 5 Crashing A Wedding When a famous couple gets married at the Tipton Hotel in the season 1 episode Grounded On The 23rd Floor, the twins take this opportunity to make some money. After breaking Mr. Moseby and creating havoc in the lounge, their mother gets a bill that she's too broke to afford. Rumors are spreading that the tabloids are paying $20,000 dollars for the first kiss of the bride and groom. specifically secured the wedding against paparazzi, it's a pretty immoral attempt to get money, even if it's an act of love to their mother. 4 Hotel Damages Zack and Cody treat the hotel as their own personal playground. In the season 2 episode Forever Plaid, the guys throw a ball, smash a lamp, and scratch the paint wall. They drive around the luggage carts in several episodes, a horse inside the hotel, visit the kitchens and cook in them without proper health certificates, break a painting, lose a nursery that draws on the walls, makes holes in the walls, make renovations inside closet, almost kill Esteban while he's cleaning a lamp, knocking down ladders. The list goes on. 3 Lose The Daycare Kids When parents leave their children at a nursery they are rightly impressed that their children will be well looked after. In the season 2 episode Daycare, Zack and Cody are left to watch Maddie's daycare. Chaos ensues and the children disappear after suggesting a game of hide and seek, only for the kids to start running around the hotel and creating a mess of things like the child pulling on walls as mentioned above. Some serious damage may have been done and injuries sustained that would have gotten the hotel into some major trouble. 2 Treatment To Max is one	wall. of the earliest friends of the twins, meet her and Tapeworm is the very first episode. But their friendship with her isn't exactly cherished. In the season 1 episode Footloser, Max and Zack are partners for the fictional dance competition Go Dance U.S.A. Zack injures himself and makes Cody pretend to be him, even though Cody can't dance. In the Season 1 episode Band In Boston, the twins create a rift in the band of which Max is also a member. Max is also made to feel stupid when Zack reveals that he was forced to go on a date with her in the episode Kisses And Basketball. 1 Zack pretending to have dyslexia disabilities are not something to joke about. In the season 1 episode Smart And Smarter, the twins receive their report cards. Zack's not doing so well. One of the character differences between Zack and Cody is their studious tendencies. Cody is portrayed as the twin who is composed and book smart, while Zack is more adventurous and hands-on. Zack gives his mom the excuse that he has dyslexia to cover his bad grades when he really isn't in the effort.
