It stars Zachary Gordon and Steve Zahn. Robert Capron, Devon Bostick, Rachael Harris, Peyton List, Grayson Russell and Karan Brar also have outstanding roles. This is the third (originally planned final) part of the Diary of a Wimpy Kid film series and is a combination of elements from the third and fourth books in the series, but draws mainly from the fourth book. The film was released on August 3, 2012 by 20th Century Fox. The film also received mixed reviews and grossed $77.1 million on a budget of $22 million. Diary of a Wimpy Kid: Dog Days is also the last film in the series to feature original cast members, as many of the cast (such as Zachary Gordon, Robert Capron and Devon Bostick) have outgroted their roles, and new actors have been cast in subsequent films in the series, starting with Diary of a Wimpy Kid: The Long Haul, which was released five years later. The Heffley family plot attends a pool party in a crowded local pool where the family meets former troubled friend Rodrick (Devon Bostick), who is now a model student after attending a military school for boys going into eighth grade known as the Spag Union. With Greg (Zachary Gordon) going into eighth grade, Greg's dad, Frank (Steve Zahn) is thinking about saving Greg there. Greg's summer begins badly: his father bans Greg from playing video games in anger at Greg's laziness, and also bans Greg from watching TV after Rodrick mocks Greg, and his mother Susan (Rachael Harris) starts a book club for Greg's friends and classmates, but he doesn't see their books as true literature and forces them to read classic books , which Greg finds boring. Frank is also jealous of his neighbor's sports children, and after being banned from playing video, Susan forces Frank and Greg to bond; their activities end in disaster. A few weeks later, Greg's best friend, Rowley Jefferson (Robert Capron), takes Greg to a local country club where Greg enjoys a lifestyle and the fact that his crush, Holly Hills (Peyton List), teaches tennis there. Greg returns home to find out that Frank saved him free summer internship in his office without his consent, and lies about already having a job in a country club. Frank and Susan are thrilled, and later give Greg a mobile phone starter called Ladybug, which only allows him to call home or 911. Rowley invites Greg on a family trip, which they take to a rented beach house near the promenade, but Greg thinks the trip is boring and he's trying to escape. He tries to send Susan an email through Mr. Jefferson's (Alf Humphreys) laptop, but accidentally sends an email to everyone on Mr. Jefferson's contact list. The next morning, Greg tries to call home using his Ladybug phone, but the phone rejects the call. Greg accidentally calls 911, and soon after, the police arrive. Greg is eventually sent home. Rowley doesn't let Greg go with him to the country club because of a beach incident, but Greg sneaks in impersonating several members, including Rowley. She meets with Holly and her sister Heather (Melissa Roxburgh) and manages to get a Lóded Diper concert for her sweet sixteen pages, much to Rodrick's delight because of Rodrick's fondness for Heather. Greg and Rowley reconcile, but when Frank drops Greg off one morning, they both confront Rowley's father; Greg built a $260 fruit smoothie bill with his time at a country club without knowing that food costs money. When Frank tries to explain the situation, the manager informs him that the club does not employ minors and Greg is exposed. As a result, he receives the Spag Union cd in an email and fears that it will be sent there. Rodrick informs Greg that Wilderness Weekend could be a way to avoid the Spag Union. Their squad turns out to be weak compared to Frank's boss, Stan (Phil Hayes), the squad and Greg still mess things up. After the boys overheard Stan and his squad insulting Frank, Greg tries to establish a revenge plan with a trap and learns that Stan's squad uses modern amenities, including pre-prepared meals and portable TVs, rather than actually camping. Stan arrives at the tent and attacks Greg, confusing him with a raccoon, and Greg accidentally throws the tent into the campfire and then admits that he was responsible when Frank appears to investigate the confusion. Frank, losing respect for Stan when he insults Greg, confronts Stan for electronic amenities, and Stan falls into Greg's trap, leaving him humiliated. Frank reveals that he never liked camping and decides not to send Greg to Spag Union, much to Greg's surprise and joy. Frank gives Greg advice on learning from mistakes and taking responsibility. They both discover that they are more similar than they realize. On Heather's sweet 16th birthday a few days later, Lóded Diper performs a hard rock cover of the Justin Bieber/Ludacris hit song Baby, with Rodrick on vocals, trying to impress Heather. However, Rodrick accidentally knocks over Heather ice bust, resulting in losing her temper and trying to attack Rodrick using a microphone stand, only for her to smash the chocolate fountain, splashing chocolate all over herself, Rodrick, and her friend Madison, and the party ends in disaster. Holly suggests that she likes Greg by holding his hand, and in the final scene Greg, Rowley and Holly spend time together in the city pool. Greg notes that while his summer may not have gone as expected, he may look back on it as the best summer ever. Cast Zachary Gordon as Greg Heffley Steve Zahn as Frank Heffley, Greg's father Robert Capron as Rowley Jefferson, Greg's best friend Devon Bostick as Rodrick Heffley, Greg Rachael Harris' older brother as Susan Heffley. Greg Peyton's mother Lists as Holly Hills, Greg's love interest and possible girlfriend Grayson Russell as Fregley, Greg's strange colleague Karan Brar as Chirag Gupta, one of Greg's friends Bryce Hodgson as Ben, one of Rodrick's friends Laine MacNeil as Patty Farrell, Greg's arch-enemy Melissa Roxburgh as Heather Hills, Holly's older sister and Rodrick's love interest. Roxburgh previously played Rachel Lewis, one of the girls at Rodrick's party in the second film Connor/Owen Fielding as Manny Heffley, Greg's younger brother Alf Humphreys as Mr. Jefferson, Rowley's father, who dislikes Greg Bronwen Smith as Mrs. Jefferson, Rowley's mother Terence Kelly as Heffley's grandfather, Susan Heffley's father-in-law, Frank's father and Greg, Rodrick and Manny's grandfather Oliver the Dog as Sweetie, Heffleys' dog Philip Maurice Hayes as Stan Warren, Frank's boss Daili Bela as Taylor Pringle, the naughty girl Elise Gatien as Madison, Heather's best friend Jeff Kinney, the author of the series, repeats his role from the previous film as Mr. Jonathon Hills (Holly and Heather's father). The main photography production began on August 8, 2011 in Vancouver and was completed on October 7, 2011. The club pool was located in The Eagle Ridge Outdoor Pool in Coquitlam, BC. Filming at eagle ridge outdoor pool took place at the end of August 2011. [6] [7] [8] The city's outdoor pool scenes at the beginning and end of the film were shot at the Steveston Outdoor Pool in Richmond, B.C. Filming took place at steveston outdoor pool in early September 2011. [10] [11] The Chinese bunker at Steveston Shipyards in Richmond, BC was the wilderness explorers cabin site for troop 133. [13] During filming, stars Zachary Gordon and Robert Capron were seen riding Corkscrew in Playland at Vancouver, PNE. Capron had to wear a wig for this movie because his hair was shaved to play the role of Young Curly in The Three Stooges, as explained in The Wimpy Kid Movie Diary. [13] The poster was leaked in March 2012. The trailer is included with The Three Stooges. [15] Pre-release the video has been 31 July 2012. Critical reception on Rotten Tomatoes, the review aggregator, the film has an approval rating of 53% based on 74 reviews and an average rating of 5.51/10. The critical consensus of the site is: Too familiar and a bit too dependent on slapstick, sitcom-like Dog Days will not improve in previous installments and will probably appeal to few outside the target audience. On Metacritic, the film has a score of 54 out of 100 based on 22 critics, indicating mixed or average reviews. The audience polled by CinemaScore gave the film an average A rating, on a scale from A+ to F. Abby West of Entertainment Weekly gave the film a B+ and wrote: 'While often self-centered and conniving, Greg remains a nice kid and the film plays around, pulling off over-the-top scenarios that create digestible life lessons for teenagers. OregonLive.com praised Zachary Gordon's acting, writing: [h] is an easy resemblance, and general relativity is perhaps two of the biggest keys to Diary of a Wimpy Kid: Dog Days. Matt Mueller of OnMilwaukee rated the film, calling it manic, forced, predictable, distracted and often unpleasant. Mueller criticized the film's overflowing script for its very attention deficit, tinging in many wacky plot elements, most of them just existing to predictable jokes that were met on my screen with endless silence. He wrote that [s]ome storylines could do for decent movies on their own, especially the one where Greg joins the Boy Scouts, but that they have only been restored when the script needs another forced comic piece or a badly fated attempt to squeeze undeserved emotions. Mueller disliked Greg's behavior, writing: 'He is lazy and insanely selfish, using his friend's unbridled kindness. His journey with Rowley's family ends with Greg insulting the entire clan and being arrested by police. Later in the film, he runs to bill's family sneaking into the country club. What part of this behavior is adorable? The review ends with Mueller writing: In the lonely moment of Dog Days, Rowley explains with a clear ness that his parents' disappointment is worse than their yelling. In this case, I'm not angry that such a film can take away the joy of childhood and make it so joyless and unpleasant. I'm disappointed. Sequel Main Article: Diary of a Wimpy Kid: The Long Haul (film) At the time of release, Dog Days was described as the last live-action film in the series. [27] In August 2012, while the press for the film, Jeff Kinney, Zachary Gordon and Robert Capron each indicated that they had no plans for a fourth film, but did not reject the possibility altogether. [27] [28] Kinney answered questions about the possibility of another sequel, stating: We don't currently have a fourth film in development, but you never know! Describing the likelihood of another film in the series, Gordon explained: [Dog Days] will most likely be the last film. The main problem is that [the cast] is getting older. You can't stop it. There is no way to temporarily stop us from changing and growing up. You know, that's the problem, because the characters are supposed to be timeless. In March 2013, Zachary Gordon told Waudeer that there would be no fourth live film. Jeff Kinney pointed out that instead of making a live-action film from cabin fever's sixth novel, he would like it to be adapted into an animated film, stating in an interview: I hope it will be animated. I would love to see it turn into animated special television. On July 29, 2016, it was announced that production of a new film with a different cast had begun on the basis of the 9th The film was released on May 19, 2017, achieving modest box-office success despite reaching a critical minimum for the series.
