Often considered the black version of The Bachelor, rapper Flavor Flav (real name William Drayton) went in search of love. While the show lasted three seasons - full of drama and jokes - the show gave us one of the most iconic villains in reality TV history: Tiffany New York Pollard. She almost won her first season and even lost in her second season - to Nicole Hoopz Alexander, but Flav chose Hoopz instead. Why Hoopz and Flavor Flav Breakup? If you think hoopz and Flavor Flav's relationship will last, then you're dead wrong. During the Vh1 Flavor of Love reunion special, fans had the opportunity to meet all the contestants to catch up. It has been revealed that Flav and Hoopz broke up before the show because they were better friends. In a previous interview with VH1, the reality star pondered her time with the rapper and whether their chemistry was real. Absolutely, she said. I went to London with him and watched him perform and was very close. He and I are super cool friends and all you see is really real. I saw him not long ago in LA and just gave him a hug and I told him thank you. I'll always respect Flav, he changed my life. There was no lie, it was really been, she added, in saying she no longer had to abide by the non-disclosure agreement. I was impressed by who he was [Laughs] I just told you that it really was. I still love him. I'm real. Hoopz did not keep in touch with the Flavor of Love girls nor realized that she would be apart in television history, as the experience was too new for her. It's very new, like everything practical, especially the kind of program that we're doing and it's new to us, she said. This is the first time I've walked out in public and don't really know what's going to happen. It was so overwhelming and surreal for me. I don't even know all the other women because they keep everyone separate. I would say [producers] are very good at keeping a lot of things away from you. Since breaking up with Flav, Hoopz has continued to be friends with the rapper and has starred in other reality shows ever since, such as I Love Money and It Takes a Sister. 1 in 20 VH1, Instagram She not only won the show but also the heart of Flavor Flav. Unfortunately, reunion, she announced what viewers had suspected, that she didn't really feel him like that. Since the show, she has been busy dating celebrities like Shaquille O'Neal and she is currently boxer Ovince Saint Preux. 2 out of 20 VH1, Getty Images The standout star and villain of the season, New York, has been unforgettable and returns for a second season, as well as other spin-off shows. Today, she still does reality TV. You can catch her on famously single on E!. 3/20 VH1, Instagram With her wisdom and humor a lining (The chicken's lovely!), Goldie is an instant fan favorite. After a short period of independent comedy, in 2017, Goldie completed her Master of Social Work program. 4 of 20 VH1 She was responsible for spitting around the world after she hocked a loogie on New York in an iconic holiday clock. After the show, she appeared in several spin-offs of the VH1 reality show, from I Love Money to Charm School. These days Brooke has taken a break from the limelight and worked as an accountant. I would still be on reality TV if [someone] was still doing those kinds of shows, she said in 2016. Not to say I'll never do reality TV again because I'll absolutely do it again. 5/20 VH1, Instagram Most fans remember hottie from her infamous microwave chicken disaster, as well as the illusion that she looks like Beyoncé. Since the show, Schatar has been involved in a number of things, from modelling to acting, but her main career seems to be in production. She has produced several short videos for her website, including a 101 reality TV video. Today, she claims Hottie is just a character she plays and she can actually cook very tasty chicken. 6/20 VH1, Facebook She is the crying baby of the season, who is always at odds with the other contestants. After the show, she appeared on other VH1 spin-offs such as Charm School. These days, she's a mompreneur claiming to be a model, act and do other things. 7/20 VH1, YouTube Known for her all-red outfits, Abigail is a mole who often tells Flavor Flav about other women she doesn't think deserve to be in the house. After performing small cameo roles such as Red Oyster in TELEVISION shows and commercials, her Internet footprint mysteriously disappeared in 2009. Although she is no longer in the limelight, she is still accused of being friends with New York. 8 of 20 VH1, Facebook She is best known for speaking off Flavor Flav during her removal ceremony, breaking her sweet esto. After the show, she pretty much disappeared from the limelight. Today, at least judging by her Facebook, she is a stay-at-home mother. 9 of 20 VH1, Facebook Since the show, Cristal has made models and other performances. She is currently the founder and CEO of BeARoleModel.org married in April 2017. 10 of 20 VH1, Instagram eliminated in episode three, most of which Don't miss her. However, after the show, she began her music career and even appeared on television shows such as The Bernie Mac Show and Boston Public. In 2016, she returned to the taste of love to take a selfie above. The last time you saw me in front of this house I cried because I was removed from #flavoroflove she wrote. I talked to the owner and we shared stories about what a great person #flavorflave (sic) is and she wants to know which bedroom is mys. Pretty cute. 11 of 20 VH1, Facebook She remembers most for getting into a shouting match in a car with New York and for being really violent. Today, she lives in Seattle, where she has had a happy relationship since 2015. 12 of 20 VH1, Instagram She was sent home in episode two when Flavor Flav found out she had made a call to her ex. Today, she is a model/skin care guru with two children. 13 of 20 VH1, Facebook Apple is sweet, normal, and a little out of place at home Taste of Love, which is probably why she got booted in episode two. Today, she is a global mother trotting. 14 out of 20 VH1, Instagram Although she was eliminated in the first episode, she was the biggest person in the reunion, and so is something that most fans remember her for. Today, she is the founder/CEO of Proof Positive Healing Ministries. 15 of 20 VH1, Reddit We don't remember much about Dimplez, but she was eliminated in episode two. She doesn't seem to have much of a presence on social media, however, one Reddit user claiming she used to work as a vaudeville and female wrestler with Margaret uploaded the photo above in 2011. 16 of 20 VH1, Facebook After being eliminated in episode two, Georgia went on to a career in indj. Today, she continues to act, sing, and impersonate Michelle Obama. 17 of 20 VH1, Facebook She didn't make it her first overnight on Flavor of Love, and she didn't get much screen time either (unless you count the minutes or the two she spends complaining about the nickname Flav gave her). Today, she is the owner of a hair extension company in San Diego, CA. 18 of 20 VH1, Instagram removed in the first episode, Smokey is best remembered, well, not too bright (from her own). Today, she is a singer who now goes by the name Portia Dee. 19 of 20 VH1, Facebook She is very humble, Flavor Flav takes a long time thinking about her nickname, finally solved on Shellz. In the end, it didn't matter that she left the first episode. Today, she is happily married and lives in Las Vegas. Vegas.
