/ (103) 176.2 / 164 ----- I would appreciate any help! Thanks a lot! A: They're using a (for the blackboard) 'B' for small caps, where a small caps 'B' would normally be a double-struck 'B'. It doesn't seem to be a common practice to make a B in this way. If you don't want to use the font, I think I would recommend using a normal 'B' and adjusting the size. @d.k.lee's comment, Actually, this is a capital B in blackboard bold, and small B in regular blackboard (the 'B' in upper-case.) Slideshow (2 images) HANOI (Reuters) - Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov and U.S. Secretary of State Rex Tillerson held talks in Vietnam on Tuesday that are expected to focus on North Korea's latest ballistic missile tests, and on Iran's influence in the Middle East. Lavrov's meeting with Tillerson, at the request of North Korea's ambassador to Vietnam, was the first time the two have met since North Korea carried out an unprecedented series of ballistic missile tests last month. Vietnam and Russia have long had diplomatic ties, and many say that Vietnamese attitudes towards North Korea are similar to Russia's. "Russia's presence in the region is very important... there is concern that the Iranian role in this region is growing," said Vietnamese Foreign Minister Pham Binh Minh. Tillerson's visit, his third in three months, comes just days before President Donald Trump plans to meet South Korean President Moon Jae-in in Washington on the sidelines of the UN General Assembly meeting in New York. It also comes as Trump has said he is not worried about North Korea's latest missile tests. "I don't think they are that worried about it," Trump said on Monday when asked if the tests were troubling. Tillerson said on Tuesday that North Korea's behavior is "beyond unacceptable". "If North Korea acts again in a provocative or escalatory way, the president is prepared to act and will act," he told reporters in Vietnam. Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin 520fdb1ae7
